Tata Group to buy Wistron's B'luru plant

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

TATA Electronics, a wholly owned subsidiary of Tata Sons, is set to make iPhones in India. Taiwan-based Wistron Corp, a contract manufacturer for Apple Inc, said on Friday that it has approved 100% indirect stake sale of Wistron Infocomm Manufacturing (India), which operates an iPhone assembly plant near Bengaluru, to the Tata firm for $125 million. The Bengaluru plant has reportedly committed to ship iPhones worth $1.4 billion. Tata Electronics declined to comment.

Incorporated in 2020, Tata Electronics has a plant in Tamil Nadu's Hosur (40 km from Bengaluru). It employs 5,000 people and makes mobile enclosures.

With the acquisition of the Bengaluru plant, the Tata Group is set to become India's first homegrown iPhone assembler, giving a boost to Apple's efforts to reduce its overdependence on China. Leading Taiwanese manufacturers Pegatron and Foxconn already have manufacturing facilities near Chennai, where they assemble iPhone 15.

The Mumbai-headquartered conglomerate has also announced plans to open 100 Apple stores across the country. However, Tata Electronics' plans are not limited to mobile phone assembly; its stated roadmap is to position itself as a key player in the global semiconductor and precision manufacturing industry.

Draft report on bills to overhaul IPC, CrPC stalled

Parl Standing Committee on Home Affairs bows to Opposition demand for more time

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A Parliamentary committee reviewing three bills to replace existing criminal laws put off the adoption of the draft laws on Friday amid protests by Opposition members for 'more consultations and time' to study the report. The panel will now meet on November 6 and may adopt the draft report.

Several leaders including Congress's P Chidambaram, DMK's Dayanidhi Maran and Trinamool's Derek O'Brien have written to the panel's chairman BJP Rajya Sabha MP Brij Lal, seeking more time to study the draft report. Sources said that the members received the Hindi version of the draft report on Thursday. DMK, Congress and TMC members urged the panel's chairperson to seek another three months time and "stop bulldosing these bills for short-term electoral gain".

Home Minister Amit Shah had introduced the new criminal laws in the Lok Sabha during the Monsoon session to replace the Indian Penal Code (IPC), The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 and the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 with Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita and Bharatiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, respectively.

ADULTERY LAW, SEC 377 TO BE BROUGHT BACK?

- The panel is learnt to have made recommendations on reinstating the adultery law and Section 377, which criminalises non-consensual sex between men, women or trans persons
- The panel is also learnt to have recommended bringing mob lynching on par with murder | P11

The Standing Committee was given three months to consult and submit the draft bill. Opposition MPs, however, alleged lack of consultation.

"These laws are more than 100 years old and such sweeping changes cannot be done without consultations," said one MP. While the Congress sought wider consultations, the DMK opposed the Hindi names for the new criminal laws.

BJP sources said the panel has engaged in an extensive consultation process and will meet its deadline of three months.

Draft electoral rolls out, spike in number of young voters in K'taka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Election Commission on Friday published the Draft Electoral Rolls - 2024 for Karnataka and set December 9 as deadline to file objections and make corrections in voter identity cards. The final rolls will be published on January 5, 2024. The summary revision of electoral rolls with respect to the qualifying date of January 1, 2024, is on.

The number of young voters (18-19 years) has almost doubled compared to the final rolls for 2023. Their number increased from 7,07,488 in 2023 to 13,45,707 in the draft rolls for 2024. Chief Electoral Officer (CEO) Manoj Kumar Meena attributed this phenomenal rise to the initiatives launched by the EC and the efforts of officials.

FACT-SHEET

2023 (FINAL ROLLS)
Men: 2,66,82,156, Women: 2,63,98,483, Others: 4,927. Total: 5,30,85,566

Men: 2,68,02,838, Women: 2,65,69,428, Others: 4,896. Total: 5,33,77,162

"Block Level Officers (BLOs), Assistant Electoral Roll Officers (AEROs) and Electoral Roll Officers (EROs) played an effective role in the registration of young voters. The appointment of Block Education Officers (BEOs) as AEROs helped in a big way," he told reporters here.

The number of voters increased by 2,91,596. It was 5,30,85,566 in 2023. The draft now has 5,33,77,162 voters and of them, 2,68,02,838 are men and 2,65,69,428 women, 4,896 others and 47,172 service electors, Meena said.

Murthy's 70-hr work week view draws mixed reactions

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

INFOSYS founder Narayana Murthy's request to youngsters over the 70-hour work week has sparked a debate as a few startup founders and business leaders seconded his viewpoint and some have opposed saying quality of work done is greater than clocking in more hours, and that it is tough for young employees to dedicate 12-13 hours to work each day along with an additional 2-4 hours of commute time.

On Thursday, in conversation with former Infosys CFO Mohandas Pai, Murthy said, "My request is that our youngsters must say, 'this is my country, I want to work 70 hours a week." He stressed that if the country wants to make significant progress, then the youth would have to work hard.

JSW group chairman Sajjan Jindal and Ola Cabs CEO and co-founder Bhavish Aggarwal endorsed Murthy's statement. Jindal said, "It is not about burnout, it is about dedication. Aggarwal too said it is not our moment to work less and entertain ourselves.

Onion price up, govt offloads buffer stock

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE national average price of onion rose to ₹43 per kg over the last few days, a 43% rise over the previous year's price of ₹30. In Delhi, onion's price has gone up by 57% to ₹47.

With elections to five states coming up, the rise in prices forced the Centre to intervene, as it decided to step up the release of its buffer onion stock while urging Mozambique to expedite shipment of pulses.

Rohit Kumar Singh, secretary to the Department of Consumer Affairs, said the government has been offloading buffer onions since mid-August and is further stepping up their retail sale at a subsidised rate of ₹25.

As for pulses from Mozambique, procedural hurdles have cropped up since July, causing delays to their shipments. Singh met Mozambique High Commissioner, Ermindo A Pereira, and called for an expedited shipment process of tur (pigeon pea) pulses. Analysts say large-scale hoarding as well as sanitary and phytosanitary (SPS) measures are delaying the import of tur. SPS means quarantine and biosecurity measures taken before introducing commodities to other countries to check contaminants that can potentially cause diseases in humans, animals, or plants.

Poor monsoon rainfall in pulses-producing areas like Maharashtra, Karnataka and Madhya Pradesh led to fall in production and aggravated speculation. Poor rainfall had affected production in 2022 as well, the impact of which is also being felt this year.

Anand Sweets founder, driver assaulted

Angry that luxury car was disrupting a procession, three miscreants attack septuagenarian; Two arrested

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

SEVENTY TWO-year-old Anand Dayal Dadu, founder of Anand Sweets and Savouries, was attacked along with his car driver by three miscreants, who were part of a religious procession, on Lakshmi Road in Shantinagar.

The incident occurred near Anand's house early on Wednesday, when the septuagenarian, a resident of 7th Cross of Lakshmi Road, was returning home in his luxury car. The driver, Shyam Sundar Pillai (36), was driving slowly on the edge of the road as a religious procession was passing by.

The accused, who are reported to be part of the procession, allegedly started beating the driver without any provocation. When the elderly man intervened, the accused also allegedly attacked him with a blunt weapon, leaving him to bleed. Family members, who learnt about the incident, shifted the duo to hospital for treatment.

Anand's son, Ankeet Dadu, filed a police complaint on Wednesday, alleging that the accused had attacked his father with a blunt weapon. "The incident took place on the 7th Cross of Lakshmi Road in Shantinagar. Anand along with Pillai was returning from Palace Grounds," states the complaint.

The police checked CCTV footage from the vicinity, and used local intelligence to arrest two of the three accused -- identified as Harish Kumar (23), a plumber; and Sandeep (19), a grocery delivery boy. Both are residents of Shantinagar.

Meanwhile, the police are unsure if the accused were drunk at the time of the incident. Their blood and urine samples have been sent for tests to confirm the presence of alcohol.

"Two persons have been arrested. The elderly man was not attacked with any weapon, but was punched and assaulted by the accused using their fists. One more suspect is yet to be arrested. The accused have claimed that they got frustrated when the car kept moving, instead of waiting for a while, when the procession passed the narrow road. They asked the driver to stop, but the latter kept driving which irked the accused, which could be the reason for the attack," informed an officer.

When contacted, Ankeet refused to comment. A case of causing hurt by dangerous weapons along with other Sections of the IPC have been registered against the accused. Further investigations are on.

Cancer cases rising by 1% every year in K'taka

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA'S cancer incidence is projected to be rising by one per cent every year, with females being more affected. Cases of breast cancer constitute the highest incidence, followed by cervix and ovarian cancer.

Dr Suresh Babu, Medical Oncologist, Kidwai Memorial Institute of Oncology (KMIO), said, "Previously, cervical cancer cases had the highest incidence, but are showing a downward trend now with improved screening. Breast cancer has taken over in the last decade with a changing lifestyle resulting in a higher number of cases."

Though screening for breast cancer has improved in urban areas, there is still a need to create awareness among rural women. It is observed that women in rural parts of Karnataka still avoid getting screened for a lump in the breast, resulting in late diagnosis. Dr Babu explained that beyond the stigma associated with getting regularly screened for breast cancer, rural women cannot avail of facilities like ultrasound and mammography tests. This adds to the burden of rural women getting diagnosed in the metastatic stage.

Another factor is women's ignorance towards getting lumps checked as they are painless, particularly in the breast. With October observed as Breast Cancer Awareness Month, Dr Shabber Zaveri, Chairman, Head of Department and Consultant, Surgical Oncology and Robotic Surgery, Manipal Hospital, also highlighted a changing trend of more breast cancer cases among younger women. Previously, women in the 50s-60s were diagnosed with breast cancer, now women in their 30s are also diagnosed with it. Changes in lifestyle like late marriages, reduced breastfeeding period or work-related stress are said to be the cause. The September 2023 report released by KMIO estimated 87,000 new cancer cases in the state. There are more than 37.5 lakh cases in India, of which 2.3 lakh cases are from Karnataka. In Bengaluru, lung, stomach, prostate and oesophagus cancers are predominant in males, and breast, cervix, ovarian and corpus uteri are leading cancer sites in females.

Cases of childhood cancer (0-14 years) have also seen a rising trend, mainly of leukaemia and lymphoma. It constitutes 7.9 per cent of all cancer cases seen in India and 2 per cent of all cases in Bengaluru.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Bannerghatta police have arrested a 45-year-old man suspected to have plotted a spate of mobile phone thefts and recovered 1,037 phones worth over Rs 2 crore from him. The accused, Mohammed Mahmood Pasha alias Arif Pasha, allegedly hired a team of henchmen to carry out the mobile phone thefts across the city on his behalf, while allegedly compensating them with a commission ranging from Rs 2,000-6,000, depending on the value of the stolen phones.

"Pasha, a resident of Goripalya, had been involved in mobile thefts for over a year. His modus operandi involved hiring people on his behalf across the city to steal phones, priced from Rs 10,000 to upwards of Rs 1 lakh," said Mallikarjun Baladandi, SP, Bengaluru Rural.

Activist accuses education trust of misusing Waqf land

> Why is waqf land being given to Shaheen Falcon Education Trust for running schools and colleges in many districts of the state, including Bengaluru, at a very low rent?
> Syed Ashraf, social acitivist

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

SOCIAL activist Syed Ashraf has accused Shaheen Falcon Education Trust head Abdul Mannan Seth, his wife and son Abdul Subhan of grabbing Waqf land, and wrote to the Chief Minister, seeking a CID probe into the matter.

Addressing a press conference here on Friday, Ashraf alleged that the trust had illegally registered parcels of land belonging to Hazrat Syed Shah Ali Dargah in Survey 85 of Haladakeri village of Bidar district, demanding the state government investigate illegal encroachment of Waqf land. "Why is waqf land being given to Shaheen Falcon Education Trust for running schools and colleges in many districts of the state, including Bengaluru, at a very low rent?" he questioned.

In response to the allegation, Abdul Subhan, MD of Shaheen Falcon Education Trust, said the institution is not at fault and has not done any wrong. "The land in Bidar does not belong to Waqf. In 1976, the land was given to Devidas as he was the cultivator. In 2017, we purchased the land from Devidas's son Prem Kumar, and it is not a Waqf property."

30 guntas of forest land reclaimed

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE forest department recovered 30 guntas of land worth over Rs 65 crore in Hoskote, during its special drive to reclaim its property from land encroachers.

According to Deputy Conservator of Forests, Bengaluru Rural, Sareena Sikkaligar, the 2.5-acre parcel of land was given to the forest department by the erstwhile Mysuru Maharaja in 1945 to build the Range Forest Officer's Office and staff quarters.

Later, part of the land was encroached by Guruswami. He even challenged it in the tahsildar's office, which passed the ruling in the department's favour. Later, he approached the lower court and High Court, only to get defeated.

"We served notice and accordingly, we razed 27 commercial shops built on 30 guntas and the land was reclaimed," Sikkaligar said.

After 8 long years, work begins on ORR underpass

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

EIGHT years after it was initially supposed to be built, the BDA has finally began the work on building of the second half of an underpass at the National Skill training institute junction (popularly known as Kanteerava Studios junction) on the Outer Ring Road. One half of the underpass, towards Peenya, was already completed many years ago, however, the underpass was not put to use, as the other half, was being delayed due to land acquisition issue.

The completion of the underpass will come as a big relief to residents of Rajajinagar, Nandini Layout, Mahalakshmi Layout and Kuruburahalli, moving towards Tumukuru as the stretch of road will have faster moving traffic.

A senior BDA official told TNIE, "We began the demolition a couple of days ago. The project had come to a standstill due to land acquisition issues. The compensation issues have finally been sorted, and we are demolishing 31 buildings here, to build the underpass and service roads. Of course, traffic diversion will have to be taken up in stages. We are targeting to complete the work in six months."

"The overall cost of the land acquisition for the underpass and the already functional roads and flyover totally came up to Rs 136 crore as it is all part of one project. The underpass land acquisition could roughly amount to Rs 26 crore," he added.

During the peak hours, the junction is bursting at the seams with vehicles coming in from all sides, particularly huge trucks, with loud honking all around, pedestrians can be seen darting across the road in the face of heavy traffic.

A few shops on the road stretch were picking up their items, as the BDA has marked them for demolition to build service roads for public to divert traffic when the underpass work begins.

N Raghavendra, a real estate promoter and resident at Nandini Layout says, "Any infrastructure work is welcome as it really improves the area and makes the area progress. Those travelling towards Laggare and Peenya will also benefit much when the underpass is ready."

Raju M, a resident of Laggare says, "Whenever I want to go to my hometown in Kunigal, using the underpass will save me from the traffic. Same for those heading towards Yesvantpur railway station."

Another resident Kumar Babu said, "It will really help all motorists going towards Tumakuru for work. I think BDA will take atleast a year to complete the work."

Introduce premium buses to curb traffic: AAP to CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

TO beat the traffic in Bengaluru, members of AAP Karnataka, on Friday, recommended Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to add premium buses to the fleet of BMTC city buses. The party, in their letter addressed to the chief minister pointed out that Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal has introduced 'Premium Bus Aggregator Policy 2023' and that Delhi will now have premium AC city buses with Wi-Fi, GPS and CCTV facilities.

These buses will also pick up passengers from their desired locations and will not stop frequently.

The party argues that introducing such premium buses in Bengaluru will encourage the upper middle class to use public transport, ultimately curbing traffic.

"The poor and the middle-class already travel by bus. To encourage the upper middle class to use buses on a daily basis, premium buses should be introduced in cities like Bengaluru," Jagadish V Sadam, state media in charge, AAP-Karnataka.

Describing the other facilities offered by these luxury buses in Delhi, Sadam said, "Seats can only be booked online, and payment will also be done online. Commuters can book their seats on an app just like airline seats. These buses won't stop frequently, and passengers will be picked up from their desired location. It helps passengers to feel like travelling on their private vehicles."

Woman flyer injured, but no doctor at KIA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru:

A KATHMANDU native has lashed out at Bengaluru airport for not having a doctor to attend to emergencies free of cost inside its premises.

In a post put out on X on Thursday, Prashant Daruka said, "Really shameful by @BLRairport. My wife was hurt by one of their transparent glass gates. They charged us 1000 bucks just to get a doctor." The tweet went on to say, "Shouldn't there be a doctor in the airport free of charge for such accidents. Isn't this a basic facility which all airports should have."

Asked for its official reaction, a source from the airport responded a day later, and claimed that the individual had removed the tweet! This was incorrect information as the tweet was very much there till Friday night. "Since the tweet has been removed, there is no point in highlighting the incident," the source added.

BIAL said that they spoke to the flyer and claimed that he confessed it was his wife's mistake that she hit the door. Asked if the incident took place at T1 or T2, the source was non-cooperative. "You speak to the flyer only. We will not give any statement on this," the source added.

The official X handle of the airport responded: "We acknowledge your feedback and our concern. Please share your travel and contact details via DM so that our team can reach you."

PETER VIDAL

28th October: We're moving into a Martial phase. What does this mean for us? Well, we can all get a lot done, because there's so much energy around, but it's all too easy to give in to impatience, irritability and recklessness. I would say that the best approach is to balance these tendencies by consciously developing virtues such as caution, patience and tolerance.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
If you are to broaden your support or extend your horizons over the coming months, you'd better start now. Try arousing emotional sympathy, but without in any way slipping into self-pity. Other people are hardly likely to support you if they don't think you're concerned about them.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
It's bound to be a little longer before you fully recover from last year's minor setbacks. In part, that's a tribute to the power of your memory. Today's lunar position offers travel as an escape route, but also advises you to check out the ethical implications: you want to do the right thing.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
The Sun and Mercury command you to stick to hard work today - and that's an order! Yet, other planets give completely contradictory advice, and if you're determined to enjoy yourself then you should aim for imaginative pursuits, not to mention those which could bring in extra cash.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The art of compromise doesn't always come naturally, which is why you may now have a slight difficulty fitting in with others' plans. However, fit in you must. Also, be prepared to spend to support your romantic dreams. I don't mean that you should waste your cash, just utilise whatever is necessary.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The Sun and Jupiter combine to stimulate the extravagant regions of your horoscope. This is a wonderful aspect for those of you who imagine that money grows on trees. The rest of you, take care! If Mars and Neptune mean anything, then it's that you're likely to lose control. Don't!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
For once, you may surrender yourself to total enthusiasm and give yourself over wholeheartedly to a special venture. If there's a choice between over-committing yourself or going without, you may go for the first option. You can sort out the details later.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
One way or another, you'll soon have to put the collective good before private interest. It's a fine time for everyone who is working to make the world a better place, or is otherwise dabbling in a charitable enterprise. Your reputation for honesty will do you good in the long run.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's an ideal day for traditional occupations, perhaps because the future seems to be so dangerous. It's also a deeply significant moment for family relationships, with indications that things may never be quite the same again. Make sure that they're better!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
There'll be a minor clash of interests between home and work, or private ties and public ambitions. In actual fact, any difficulties may be in your imagination. You may continue to juggle all your commitments and keep all balls in the air at the same time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Family members are certainly going to be stuck fast unless they turn to you for help, advice and assistance. But then they may have trouble pinning you down. By all accounts your solar chart is in a peculiarly restless, adventurous and imaginative phase.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You may as well forget your responsibilities and have fun - but only if you have a team of servants and staff to make sure that practical matters are well taken care of. As you can see, it's a complicated moment! No matter what your individual predilections, don't let others hold you back without good cause.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You're very free with your ideas, but not always with your feelings or plans. Partners who imagine you're being very straightforward and open may therefore be profoundly mistaken! At the very least you should make a point of being honest with yourself.

Ruling party legislator says there is video proof, accuses former PA of Yediyurappa to be involved in operation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Davanagere

MANDYA Congress MLA Ravikumar Ganiga on Friday made an explosive statement, claiming that those who were involved in the collapse of the Congress-JD(S) government in 2019 are trying to destabilise the present government by luring Congress MLAs with a ministerial berth and Rs 50 crore cash each if they come to power.

"We have video proof of opposition leaders offering ministerial berths to our MLAs to switch parties and to form a government. The video will soon be released in Mandya," he said.

"Those who have approached our MLAs have said special flights will be arranged and a meeting will be organised with Union Home Minister Amit Shah. They have said they have enough MLAs and have been going across the state to lure more of our legislators. They have met four of our MLAs and we have the video proof. One of those who approached our MLAs is a former PA to former chief minister BS Yediyurappa. One person from Mysuru region and another from Belagavi region are part of this team," he added. "A Congress MLA from the Belagavi region was contacted and we have a minute-by-minute account of the transaction. Opposition leaders are operating in Mysuru, Belagavi and Arsikere," he said.

Ganiga said that it has been brought to the notice of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar.

"But the BJP move will fail. In fact, BJP MLAs are joining Congress, though we have not offered them any allurements. They are impressed by the development work taken up by our government. We have a majority government with 135 MLAs. We don't need any support to run the government," he said.

Ganiga, a staunch supporter of the deputy CM, said DK Shivakumar will become chief minister after a two-and-a-half-year term of Siddaramaiah.

Govt diverting attention from real issues with tiger claw drama: Ravi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

SENIOR BJP leader CT Ravi on Friday said the state government is raising the issue pertaining to tiger claw pendants purposely to divert attention from the Income Tax raids on Congress leaders and contractors' houses, where crores in currency notes were recovered.

Ravi stated that recently during the I-T raids, nearly Rs 100 crore in cash was found, which has grabbed public attention. In order to divert this issue, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar brought up the issue of tiger claws. Wearing a tiger claw pendant has been a practice for many years now, and it is not for the first time that the Forest Department has noticed it. This is just an attempt to divert attention.

Further, Ravi said the government is also trying to hide its administration's failure. People are already expressing anger against the government for promising guarantee schemes, which it has failed to implement. The government is unable to provide power supply to farmers and the state is facing 'Kattala Bhagya' (darkness).

Ravi also alleged that ministers are conducting irregularities and MLAs are growing rebellious because of ministers.

"Moreover, all the money collected illegally in Karnataka for the Assembly polls in other states has been seized by the I-T department. To cover all this up, the tiger claw drama is being played," he stated.

Sons of Savadi, Hebbalkar seen wearing pendants

BELAGAVI: While several incidents of people wearing tiger-claw pendants have come to light in the last two days, in a fresh incident, the photos of the son of former DyCM Laxman Savadi allegedly wearing a similar pendant has gone viral on social media. However, Forest officials are expected to take note and question Sumit Savadi, son of the Congress leader. Meanwhile, officials of the forest department recovered a tiger-claw pendant from the possession of Mrinal Hebbalkar, son of Women and Child Development Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar on Friday. For the past two days, several photos of Mrinal wearing a pendant had gone viral on various social media platforms. After handing over the pendant to officials, Mrinal has assured them of cooperating with the subsequent investigation. Laxmi clarified that the pendant which her son was wearing was gifted by someone at his wedding and that it was made of plastic and is not a real tiger claw.

Jaggesh approaches HC, accuses foresters of high-handedness

BENGALURU: Accusing forest officials of haste and high-handedness, actor and BJP Rajya Sabha member Jaggesh moved the Karnataka High Court, contending that the officials grossly violated the principles of natural justice. He said a search and seizure operation was conducted at his house with about 14 officials ransacking the entire property, including the papers in his custody which he has maintained as an MP. They did not offer any opportunity for him to appear before them and rectify an unintentional mistake made due to human oversight, in response to the notice that was served to him under the Wildlife Protection Act to produce a tiger claw pendant. The conduct of the search and seizure is illegal and motivated on the face of it, claimed Jaggesh.

Forest dept sends search warrant to 2 people in Ballari

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

THE forest department in Ballari is keeping an eye out for those who have been wearing ornaments made from tiger claws, teeth, and other wildlife-sourced items.

The foresters are searching for clues on social media accounts, pictures on flexes and banners, political cutouts, and others. The department has now detected over 120 such violations in social media posts and banners. Two persons have already been sent search warrants, while one of the offenders has surrendered his bejewelled claw, which has been sent for forensic analysis.

After a series of raids and arrests in cases involving wearing of wild animal parts, especially tiger claws, across the state, the Ballari forest department is alert. Based on the photos printed on banners and posted on social media, wherein they appear allegedly sporting the 'illegal' accessories, the forest department is going to issue more search warrants.

Ballari district boasts of a good amount of wildlife, home to the country's sloth bear sanctuary. Besides sloth bears, leopards, wolves and hyenas are the major fauna found here.

Sandeep Suryavanshi, Deputy Conservator of Forest, Ballari district, said that based on a compliant, two persons have received search warrants in connection with the tiger nails case in the district. "One person surrendered before the forest department, and we have sent the sample to the forensic lab. Search is on for the other person," the officer said.

"Based on complaints, we are searching for persons who posted their pictures on social media and on public banners, and have sent search warrants to their houses. They should come to the forest department office and cooperate," he added.

Another official said that over the last two days, they have found nearly 120 posts, and photos on banners where people were seen posing with wild animal claws and teeth.

DVS returns without meeting Nadda

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

BJP MP and former chief minister DV Sadananda Gowda, who was in Delhi to meet BJP national president JP Nadda, had to return to Karnataka without meeting him.

Informed sources said that Nadda had summoned Gowda for a meeting on October 25 following which the latter had promptly rushed to the national capital and waited for two days. Meanwhile, Gowda met Union Minister Dharmendra Pradhan, who was party in-charge for the recent Assembly elections in Karnataka.

Sources said Nadda was busy with discussions for the upcoming elections to five state assemblies, and hence could not meet Gowda.

Gowda (70), who is MP for Bengaluru North, had recently aired his disappointment over the BJP's decision to tie-up with JDS for the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

"It is a setback for Gowda as the party is unlikely to placate him with any key posts.The party high command might have summoned him to warn him not to go to the media and speak about the party's decision on the alliance," a BJP leader, who is close to Gowda, said. But the party recently included Gowda in a fact-finding delegation that is assigned with the job of examining what the BJP called DMK government's high handedness on its workers in Tamil Nadu.

The delegation, including Andhra Pradesh BJP president D Purandeswari, retired Mumbai police commissioner Dr Satyapal Singh and Bengaluru Central BJP MP PC Mohan, is likely to visit Tamil Nadu soon. "I was asked to meet him on October 25. It got deferred to the evening of October 26. I waited till 11 pm. But Nadda did not come out of his office as he was busy with election-related meetings. I am not upset," Gowda added. The MP also claimed that he was asked to stay back in Delhi, but he refused as he had to go to Tamil Nadu.

MY TAKE

Making a solemn promise for future this Rajyotsava Day

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

Better not think 'tourism' alone when you apply the tag "One State Many Worlds" to describe the state of Karnataka. The state, unique in many ways, is in every bit what the four words describe it to be, not just to attract tourists but to bask in its sheer diversity.

It is home to about 150 different language families, the most widely spoken being Kannada; Tulu, Konkani, Kodava, and Daccani spoken in specific regions; while Tamil, Marathi, Telugu and Malayalam spoken in areas bordering neighbouring states where these are their respective state languages — making Karnataka the second largest state in terms of the number of languages spoken within its borders, after Nagaland.

Diverse people, diverse cultures, diverse communities and castes, speaking diverse languages, most of them having dialects that make the language sound different from the same spoken in the neighbouring region from within the same state.

Let's not limit it to diversity among people, but extend it to biodiversity as well. A much bigger and expansive world opens up with Karnataka estimated to have more than 1.2 lakh known species, which includes 600 bird species, 800 fish species, 160 reptilian species, 4,500 species of flowering plants, 1,493 species of medicinal plants, and 120 mammalian species (including humans).

Many of these are spread across the Western Ghats which runs parallel to the coast, south to north through Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Goa, Maharashtra and Gujarat, and off the 320-Km-long coastline of the state's coast that is dotted with 29 marvellous beaches.

Away from the depths, and coming to the heights, the state has 1,416 named mountains, the highest and most prominent being the 1,930-metres-high Mullayyanagiri in the Chandra Drona Hill Ranges of Chikmagalur.

But diversity gains a higher and a more profound meaning through human perceptions. It is the human mind that interprets diversity, something that is different from something else. To have differences within the same species — the Homo Sapiens, in this case — is at once a bane and a boon. It's a bane when the diversity is exploited for narrow political gains; a boon, when it is viewed as through an inclusive prism to enlist the best from different social wavelengths. The latter has always worked wonders for the society, which incited Donald Cary Williams, American philosopher and a professor at both the University of California Los Angeles and Harvard University, to famously state, "The things that we share... are far more valuable than those which divide us."

The divisive issues that Karnataka has gone through in the past few years come to mind. They teach us lessons about how baneful it is to nurture diversity on a platform of hate, and how much better it is to extract the best out of it to inclusively benefit the society.

As the 68th Rajyotsava Day dawns on November 1, we need to celebrate our state's diversity (and biodiversity). We need to do that with a solemn promise to ourselves and to our fellow-citizens to filter out hate and allow only the refined social, political and personal values to rebuild an inclusive society in Karnataka — one that can benefit all, with no exceptions.

If India is hailed for its signature diversity (dented now and then over the years), then Karnataka is its microcosm, reflecting that very diversity — which eulogizes and stresses the priceless state anthem (Naada Geethe) penned by Rashtrakavi Kuvempu: "Jaya Bharata Jananiya Tanujate, Jaya he Karnataka Maate..." ("Victory to you Mother Karnataka, The Daughter of Mother India...")

The Kannadigara society has everything that it takes to reclaim that high ideal of inclusive secularism that the state was once known for, and that reclamation would be no Herculean task for the Kannadiga to achieve once again. The state — which is us the people of this state — has everything in its wherewithal to not just reclaim and sustain its glorious diversity but to set a shining example for other states to follow in its climb towards the high pedestal of inclusive social and economic progress. This Rajyotsava Day should be celebrated with that solemn promise for the future.

Siddu hits out at Centre over 'denial' of funds to Karnataka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A delegation of the Bhovi community calls on Chief Minister Siddaramaiah in Bengaluru on Friday | EXPRESS

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday slammed the Union Government for consistent denial of funds to Karnataka and questioned if the BJP government is taking revenge against the Congress government in the state.

"Under the Modi-led BJP Central Government, Karnataka's aspirations and needs seem constantly overshadowed. Our state has faced a consistent denial of funds, despite contributing significantly to India's coffers. Critical infrastructure projects are left without support, while our revered PSUs face closure threats. Our rich cultural heritage is met with indifference, and crucial river water issues remain unresolved," said a statement issued from the CMO.

The CM stated that 216 of 236 taluks in Karnataka are reeling under drought, but the state has not received any relief from the Centre. The estimated loss due to drought is around Rs 33,770 crore and Karnataka has sought financial assistance of Rs 17,901 crore. "The Central team that visited the state was also convinced about the prevailing situation... but there is no response till now," he added.

"It is time to recollect the threats posed by @BJP4India leaders to Kannadigas during the elections. The result of which we are seeing now. Why are the BJP MPs & Union Government ministers silent over extending drought relief to Karnataka? Is it because their hate towards Kannadigas? #AnswerMadiModi," he tweeted.

Will talk to CM about naming Metro after Basaveshwara: Patil

BENGALURU: Industries Minister MB Patil said he will discuss with CM Siddaramaiah about naming Namma Metro after social reformer Basaveshwara. There is a demand to name Namma Metro after Basaveshwara and it is good to do so, instead of just naming any one station after the social reformer, he said and added that a final decision will be taken after discussing with the CM. Patil also said there is a demand to rename Vijayapura as Basaveshwara district. The minister said he is a staunch follower of Basaveshwara and will not oppose anything being named after him, but they need to examine many aspects before deciding on changes. Meanwhile, Education Minister Madhu Bangarappa termed minister MB Patil's opinion of changing Karnataka's name to Basavana Nadu as his own. ENS

PLANS FOR KARNATAKA SAMBHRAMA-50

- Kannada dept in association with Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) will launch Karnataka pak (sweet dish)
- The replica of Halmidi shasana (oldest Kannada inscription) will be installed at all 31 districts
- Statue of Goddess Bhuvaneshwari will be unveiled in Bengaluru
- 50 women achievers will be felicitated
- 50 books on Kannada language, art and folk will be released
- Govt to keep aside dedicated funds to develop Kannada schools in border areas
- All government letterheads will have 'Karnataka Sambhrama-50' logo throughout the year

TO mark 50 years of renaming the state as Karnataka, the state government has planned year-long celebrations, named Karnataka Sambhrama - 50. Kannada and Culture Minister Shivaraj Tangadagi appealed to people to draw rangoli on November 1 in red and yellow to represent the colours of the Kannada flag. He also urged people to fly kites with the Kannada flag colours.

Tangadagi told reporters on Friday that plans for year-long celebrations extend from November 1, 2023, to November 30, 2024, with the government organising programmes to instil love towards Kannada across the state. Just like the Centre had organised 'Har Ghar Tiranga' to mark 75 years of Indian Independence, the State government is urging people to draw rangoli in red and yellow. He also urged women to write Karnataka Sambhrama-50 with the tagline 'Hesaraythu Karnataka, Usiraagali Kannada' (Name is Karnataka, let Kannada be our breath).

The minister said that at 9am on November 1, the state anthem will be played on all radio channels. He urged people to stand up at 9am as a mark of respect to the anthem, besides flying red and yellow kites in open grounds near their homes from 5pm to 7pm, and light diyas in their homes, offices and shops.

The government's plan includes the Karnataka Chariot Yatre, that will travel to every hobli, taluk and village across the state. The chariot will have all details of the unification of Karnataka, Kannada literature, historical places in Karnataka, the Goddess Bhuvaneshwari statue and details of the 31 districts. Local artistes will take part in the Yatre, for which a route map has been designed.

Tangadagi said they are holding virtual meetings with Kannadiga associations outside India to involve them in the year-long celebrations. Besides, IT-BT employees will also be involved in the celebrations. "We have plans to organise Kannada programmes at these companies," he added. Five popular songs penned by noted Kannada writers will be sung across the state. The State government is also writing a letter to the Centre to commemorate Rajyotsava Day with a special stamp to mark 50 years.

BC member will become CM if BJP wins T'gana: Shah

Union Home Minister Amit Shah addresses the Jana Garjana Sabha public meeting at Suryapet in Telangana on Friday

Says only aim of BRS and Congress is to make KTR next chief minister, Rahul the PM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Suryapet

ANNOUNCING that a candidate from the Backward Classes (BC) will be made the chief minister if the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) comes to power in the state, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday accused the BRS and Congress of being family-centric while neglecting the welfare of the people.

Addressing the Jana Garjana Sabha public meeting at Suryapet, Shah said that Telangana was set to witness comprehensive development under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Claiming that the BJP-led Union government had made substantial financial allocations for the development of Telangana, he asserted that the BJP's focus is on the people and the nation and the party is committed to the welfare of the underprivileged in the State.

Accusing the BRS and Congress of being family-centric, the BJP leader said that while the pink party's only goal was to make KT Rama Rao the Chief Minister, the grand old party wanted Rahul Gandhi as the prime minister. "There has been widespread injustice to the poor, Dalits, and BCs under BRS rule. What about the promises like three acres of land to Dalits made by KCR," he questioned.

Stating that the BJP was dedicated to tribal development, he recalled the recent announcement of a tribal university named after Sammakka-Sarakka by Modi. He also listed the establishment of a new tribunal to address water-related issues and the Jal Jeevan Mission's efforts to provide drinking water to rural areas as achievements of the Modi government.

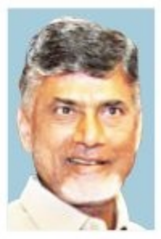
Shah invited the people of Suryapet to the inauguration of the Rama temple at Ayodhya and urged them to vote for the BJP from the erstwhile Nalgonda district.

Naidu writes to ACB court, alleges threat to his life

ENS @ Vijayawada

TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu on Friday shot off a letter to the ACB special court in Vijayawada and sought foolproof security in and around the Rajamahendravaram Central Jail. Citing a few instances of security breach, the former chief minister alleged that Left-wing extremists in the prison posed a threat to his life though he is a Z+ category protectee.

The 73-year-old is currently lodged at the Rajamahendravaram Central Prison for his alleged role in Andhra Pradesh State Skill Development Corporation scam.



In the letter, Naidu said, "It has come to my notice that East Godavari district SP and jail authorities had received an anonymous letter stating that some left-wing extremists are planning to assassinate me and that crores of rupees have changed hands to execute the assassination bid. The police have neither made any attempt to enquire about the veracity of the letter nor have taken any steps to avert any unforeseen incident."

Alleging that a remand prisoner from S Kota in Vizianagaram district, booked under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, was capturing pictures of the inmates with a pen camera, Naidu said, "Of the 2,200 prisoners, 750 are accused in several drugs cases and pose a threat to my security."

Cops show CCTV clips to prove lone suspect attacked Raj Bhavan

The state police on Friday released CCTV footages related to the Molotov cocktail attack at the Raj Bhavan to prove that only a lone man, Karukka Vinod, was involved in the incident and that he was overpowered in time before he could cause damage to people or properties. The clarification comes after governor office on Wednesday said assailants hurled two petrol bombs inside Raj Bhavan and escaped.

In a press conference in Chennai, Director General of Police Shankar Jiwal and Chennai Police Commissioner Sandeep Rai Rathore released CCTV footages that showed the accused walking alone on Taluk Office Road from Little Mount towards Sardar Patel Road, where the Raj Bhavan is located. When he reached the Taluk Office-Sardar Patel Road junction point on the opposite side of the Raj Bhavan's main gate, visuals showed police personnel cautiously approaching Vinod to prevent him from hurling petrol bombs and overpowering him. The footage also shows Vinod lighting the wick of the bottles and trying to hurl it at the gate and the 'petrol bomb' falling well before the barricade near the Raj Bhavan main gate.

The Raj Bhavan had claimed on Thursday that a group of miscreants had attempted to barge in through the main gate and there was security lapse on the part of the police. The commissioner denied the allegations of security lapse and said Vinod was not apprehended by Raj Bhavan employees but by five Chennai police personnel. "There were no other miscreants, accompanied Vinod or came as a separate group, involved in the attack," DGP Shankar Jiwal said.

Jiwal also said police followed all legal procedures in arresting Vinod.

HAL, Safran sign MoU to produce engine parts

ENS @ Bengaluru

HINDUSTAN Aeronautics Limited (HAL) and Safran Aircraft Engines, a French aero engine design development and manufacturing company signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on Thursday, to develop industrial cooperation in manufacturing parts for commercial engines. HAL will produce LEAP (Leading Edge Aviation Propulsion, powering Airbus A320 Neo family and Boeing 737 Max) engine forging at its Foundry and Forge facility in Bengaluru, as part of the deal.

"Safran is a long-standing partner, especially on our helicopter programs, as evidenced by the joint development of the 'Shakti' helicopter engine. We are also going to co-design and co-produce the next-generation IMRH engine with Safran. We are proud to take this partnership to another level, and develop our skills in key technologies," said CB Ananthakrishnan, Chairman and Managing Director (Additional Charge), HAL.

Safran Aircraft Engines already hosts three production facilities in Hyderabad and Bengaluru, and another facility is jointly being developed in Goa, which will be operational by 2025, which fits perfectly in their long-term ambition to develop a comprehensive aero-engine ecosystem in India.

Speaking at the occasion, Jean-Paul Alary, CEO of Safran Aircraft Engines, said, "This industrial cooperation on key technologies is consistent with our strategy to develop our long-term ties with the Indian aviation industry to sustain the growing domestic market. Such projects will help make Indian industry ready for further ambitious indigenous programs like Advanced Medium Combat Aircraft (AMCA) engine."

The two companies will also co-design and produce the Indian Multi-Role Helicopter (IMRH) in the city.

Forest dept plans wildlife crime management system

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Forest Department, along with Wildlife Trust of India (WTI), is creating HAWK (Hostile Activity Watch Kernel) system, a special software for wildlife crime management. The WTI on Friday announced that Nippon Telegraph and Telephone Public Corporation (NTT DATA), a digital business and IT services leader, is supporting the development of HAWK.

WTI said this specialised software system will be the nerve centre of the Forest Department as part of its modernisation initiatives.

Bishwajit Mishra, Additional Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, said it is still under development and will be completely ready in six months. So far, data of 35,000 cases of wildlife crime and forest offences have been uploaded.

He said WTI had created a software for Kerala Forest Department, which is in use at the moment. "We wanted something different. So our data will include a lot of analysis modules. We are customising the software. It will include all information starting from filing an FIR online, details of investigation and approvals. It will also be integrated with the judicial system. The system will include forest and wildlife offenses. The status of cases will also be monitored and reasons for delay in investigation can also be ascertained. Work on creating an exhaustive database of legacy crimes and criminals is also being done in parallel," he said. In the first phase, live case details are being uploaded and their status recorded. The operation and maintenance of the system will be by the department, Mishra added.

Subhash K Malkhede, PCCF (Wildlife) said, "The HAWK system will help the department to manage and monitor data regarding forest and wildlife crime across the state in real-time. This will increase the overall efficiency of the department in crime management."

Vivek Menon, Founder and Executive Director, WTI said, "We initiated the development of HAWK as there are no such systems present in the country to manage information regarding wildlife crime and criminal activities."

So far, over 300 forest officers have undergone online training and this year, there is a plan to train 500 more officials. At least five staff members from each forest range in the state will be trained by an expert team to use the HAWK system and a technical team is in place to provide real-time assistance to the new users.

Now see what's happening in the Ghats on your phone

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

NOW you can see what's happening in the Western Ghats on real-time basis on your smartphone.

Researchers at the Centre for Ecological Sciences, IISc, Bengaluru, on Friday announced the launch of the android version of the Western Ghats Spatial Decision Support System (WGSDSS).The app already has a web version. The Sahayadri Mobile App helps to visualise eco-sensitivity of the Western Ghats at the village or grid level. The researchers have developed the app through integration of bio, geo, climatic, environmental and social variables. It can be downloaded from Play Store.

Web version- https://wgbis.ces.iisc.ac.in/sdss/wgsdss/index.php.

Mobile version- https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=com.esr_sahyadri

Prof TV Ramachandra from CES, IISc, said this enhances transparency in governance while meeting societal needs, which helps in the prudent management of ecologically and hydrologically vital Sahyadri hill ranges. Visualisation of ecologically sensitive regions at disaggregated levels (grids/village) is essential for effective decision-making at decentralised levels like through biodiversity management committees towards sustainable management of natural resources.

WGSDSS is designed by integrating free and open source software and spatial information of open geospatial consortium standards to carry out multiple criteria analysis. The app will also help in framing conservation and sustainable development policies. He said spatiotemporal analyses of land use highlight the anthropogenic induced development thrust with the loss of 5% evergreen forest cover with an increase of 4.5% built-up cover and 9% agriculture area. Fragmentation analyses highlight that interior forest constitutes only 25% of the forest landmass, depicting the fragmentation pressure, impacting local ecology. Grid-wise analysis showed that 32% of the area under ecologically sensitive region (ESR) denoted very high ecological fragility.

INDIA NEEDS TO WALK A TIGHTROPE TO FREE NAVY VETERANS

THE sentencing of eight Indian naval veterans to death by a Qatar court has caught the government back home off guard. The expectation was that the officers, arrested in a surprise move on August 30 last year on charges that have not been made public so far, would be able to return home once the trial was over. But the shocking verdict has mounted an enormous foreign policy challenge before India, primarily because of the timing and the prevailing geopolitical situation. It has come at a time when almost the entire West Asia is embroiled in the ongoing Israel-Hamas war in some way or the other, and India is being made to pick sides in a conflict in which it has little say. India will find negotiating with Qatar, whose sympathies lie with Palestine and Hamas, tricky after openly declaring support for Israel right after the October 7 terror attacks. Though India has since tried to balance its stand by voicing concern over the loss of lives and reiterating its historical understanding of the Palestinian cause, it still needs to be mindful of the regional power equations and intrigues while dealing with any Gulf nation, not just Qatar.

The secretive trial makes the case open to speculation. The Navy veterans were working for a firm involved in training Qatar's defence forces. Expressing "deep shock", India's foreign ministry has said it is "exploring all legal options". But the government must realise that legal recourse alone will not be enough to ensure that the officers walk free. India will have to walk a precarious diplomatic tightrope here. It has been attempting to build on its historically friendly but unremarkable relations with Qatar, achieving considerable success in recent years. An estimated 7.5 lakh Indians live and work in Qatar, constituting the country's largest expatriate community. Besides, India has forged strong trade and defence ties with the country.

It is surprising then that there has been little communication between the two countries over the arrest, charges and subsequent proceedings. Given the recent upgrade in its relations with the Arab country, India should have been able to engage with its leadership more directly. That has obviously not happened. However, all is not lost. The challenge at hand will surely test the depth of the bilateral ties, but failure is hardly an option for India here.

INVESTORS GIRD FOR MARKET VOLATILITY

THE second-quarter earnings season has started on a disappointing note, with blue-chip companies missing Street expectations and turning in numbers much below forecasts. As if that is not enough, some have even lowered guidance for the rest of the financial year citing demand challenges and tightening economic conditions. It means the overall outlook for 2023-24 is jack-knifed between a recovery-driven first half and an uncertainty-filled second. Typically, the third quarter holds enough ammunition given the festive demand, but high inflation may continue to depress consumption and household spending. Adding another twist to the wind is the ongoing Israel-Hamas war that has engulfed policymakers with fears of a long-term disruption in not only energy prices but in the global trade infrastructure as well.

Just until a few weeks ago, analysts expected robust earnings in the second quarter, with some projecting a 40 percent jump in the aggregate revenues of listed companies. Although many firms are yet to publish results, the jury has ruled out fireworks in the second quarter with companies indicating lukewarm sales. Worryingly, the expectation of stronger third-quarter results is also getting blurry owing to geopolitical tensions. The second-quarter drag appears sector-specific for now. If volume growth lifts auto sector earnings, banking and financial institutions may see robust numbers with higher credit offtake and improving asset quality. It is the anticipated single-digit growth of the consumer goods and IT sectors that is likely to more than offset the positive momentum. If high inflation affected consumer goods firms, followed by erratic monsoons that dampened rural recovery, weak macros, competitive pressures and a broad-based disruption in global demand have mellowed IT revenues.

Earnings are a clear evidence of corporate health and the country's economic well-being. So their forward guidance indicates future growth momentum, which in turn helps investors take an informed decision. Muted earnings in a given quarter by itself may not be destructive; it is quite likely that companies would recover the lost ground in subsequent quarters. However, the ongoing earnings season comes at a time when the equity markets are getting whiplashed by global cues, particularly led by the rising US bond yields and a higher-for-longer interest rate narrative. This could unsettle individual investors, who are now one of the dominant forces in the Indian stock market. They must exercise caution and overcome market volatility.

QUICK TAKE

REGULATE DRUG FIRMS' FREEBIES

A new study in the British Medical Journal says that cancer patients whose doctors received payments from drug makers were more likely to receive low-value treatments. Prescribing drugs in return for freebies is an old problem in India too. The scourge has persisted despite old laws, a 2002 regulation and a 2015 marketing code. Yet in 2022, the Supreme Court was told that one company had spent ₹1,000 crore in unethically promoting its paracetamol brand. The court asked the government to formulate a new mechanism and a panel was set up. What we need is an updated pharma marketing code that is mandatory.

The Congress has combative duos at the top of its teams in Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh. In managing them, the party should learn from Karnataka

THE DELICATE DANCE OF STATE DUOPOLIES

RADHIKA RAMASESHAN
Columnist and political commentator

SOUMYADIP SINHA

IT is a truism in Indian politics that a party consigned to the opposition at the Centre and besieged with challenges must turn to the states it controls for sheer survival. The BJP suffered this plight for the decade it was out of reckoning at the Centre. LK Advani, Arun Jaitley, Sushma Swaraj and other central leaders orbited the state chief ministers who commanded the principalities that elected these leaders to the Lok Sabha or Rajya Sabha.

The Congress and the Gandhis have faced the same predicament since 2014, notwithstanding the party's glorious legacy and an aura around the Nehru-Gandhi dynasty that in earlier times persisted even during spells out of power. Over the last decade, as the grammar of politics and the terms of engagement with it have been radically altered, the Congress's history has become a baggage. The Gandhis must now turn to the provinces to restore a semblance of their bequest and assure themselves that everything is not yet lost.

Managing regional leaders in these changed circumstances is an onerous task. A weakened centre cannot dictate. Indeed, the use of the term 'high command' is inappropriate today. At best, the provincial bosses can be expected to pay token obeisance to the Delhi leaders. If it was just a question of issuing commandments to the states, the Gandhis and M Mallikarjun Kharge would be in a sweeter place.

But the Congress-ruled states have become stomping grounds for their leaders to play cut-throat politics, realise ambitions, unleash egos and allow vested interests to run riot. Each state governed by the Congress or with a significant presence has seen an interesting trend: the emergence of a duopoly. It's not apt to term these as parallel power centres because creating one would be the sole privilege of the central command to restrain a chief minister, a state party chief or an opposition leader through a counterweight.

The Gandhis and Kharge are not placed to use such a stratagem even if they wished to, the way Indira and Rajiv Gandhi at their peaks blithely used an 'off-with-their-heads' approach on chief ministers. The rivals have come up by circumstances peculiar to the states, with little prod from Delhi.

Ashok Gehlot is up against a younger Sachin Pilot in Rajasthan. In Madhya Pradesh, Kamal Nath has to contend with Digvijay Singh. In Chhattisgarh, Bhupesh Baghel must glance now and then to watch TS Singhdeo's manoeuvres. And in Karnataka, DK Shivakumar still cannot get over the fact that Siddaramaiah beat him to the top post. Barring Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh will elect their next legislatures in November along with Telangana and Mizoram.

Rajasthan classically illustrates the aftermath of a skewed power balance between the Congress's centre and the state CM who has spent the best part of his tenure battling Pilot. Elections are a crunch time for the Congress—unlike the BJP, where nominations are highly centralised with little or no role for the central election committee and the central parliamentary board— in that the party's duopoly has to prove its worth in selecting nominees. Pilot has consistently clamoured for cancelling tickets to MLAs facing corruption allegations and it seems the brass has gone along.

But Gehlot was a tough nut for the Gandhis and Kharge, having devised a campaign rhetoric where Rajasthan became synonymous with him, with no space for another leader. The Rajasthan saga bears retelling from September 2022, when the Congress hung in a caliginous space between the Gandhis' manifest reluctance to head the party and Gehlot's obduracy in accepting the party president's post. Gehlot did not want to be turfed out of Rajasthan by Pilot, of all people. It appeared that Pilot was backed by Priyanka Gandhi Vadra, a party general secretary. Gehlot's reflexes kicked in. He shed the mien of a Gandhi family loyalist, stirred his followers to a rebellion against the bosses, and publicly traduced Pilot. The mantle fell on Kharge to assume the president's office.

The speculation was that the Gandhis would retaliate during the elections and deny Gehlot the prerogative of choosing his candidates. Yet, despite the feedback that many of his favourites had unsavoury records, he managed to retain a majority of his legislators and ministers and will likely secure tickets for the BSP and independent MLAs loyal to him. Where did Gehlot's assertion leave Pilot? His followers were accommodated but the selection undermined his anti-corruption agenda.

About the only moment when Delhi exerted itself vis-à-vis Gehlot was by denying tickets to the trio of Shanti Dhariwal, Mahesh Joshi and Dharmendra Rathore, who had engineered the revolt against the Gandhis in 2022. That was small consolation for Pilot who surfaced on October 26 to address the media at the AICC headquarters after the Enforcement Directorate's crackdown on Gehlot's son, Vaibhav (in an alleged money laundering case) and the state Congress president Govind Singh Dotasra, also a Gehlot cheerleader. It appeared as though Pilot did a command job aimed at signalling unity at the top after his anti-corruption campaign against the Gehlot government.

In Madhya Pradesh, the Nath-Digvijay sparring is not new, although the photo-ops of the smiling twosome were devised to send a message that the "exchanges" were more wisecracks than putdowns. Nath has not been formally anointed the putative chief minister should the Congress wrest the state, but there are enough signs that the 76-year-old would make it again.

The larger point in encouraging the Bhopal duo was in tapping their complementary attributes to the party's advantage. "One sheath, two swords" was how a Madhya Pradesh commentator described the pair. Nath's project to wed a national image with a regional base has not always worked to his advantage. But his pragmatism and ability to match the BJP's Hindutva rhetoric—idiom for idiom, sentiment for sentiment—went down well with Hindu voters, unlike Digvijay's provocative pronouncements. The central command gave latitude to Nath and Digvijay to name the candidates, with a greater say for Nath.

In neighbouring Chhattisgarh, the appointment of Singhdeo as deputy CM was aimed at appeasing the veteran who felt slighted at being passed over for the CM's post. He and Baghel had the privilege of selecting candidates in their respective strongholds to minimise rebellion and sabotage. Baghel hardly remonstrated, knowing he has much more at stake in winning the election than anyone else.

The moment of truth will arrive if the Congress swings Madhya Pradesh, and retains Rajasthan and Chhattisgarh. It cannot ignore the existence of the duopolies while electing the leaders. Notice how the Siddaramaiah-Shivakumar tensions relentlessly haunt Karnataka.

NEW NEET CUT-OFF WILL BE OF ZERO HELP TO WORTHY WARDS

JOHN J KENNEDY
Professor and Dean, Christ University (Deemed), Bengaluru

SINCE its inception in 2013, the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test (NEET) has faced criticism on multiple fronts. Firstly, the decision to conduct a centralised exam in a country as diverse as India, with its multiple education systems and testing methods, has been the target of ongoing scrutiny. Additionally, the manner in which students have endured unnecessary hardships and inconveniences before and during the examinations, ostensibly to ensure accountability and prevent malpractices, has garnered widespread condemnation. It is worth mentioning that these measures failed to curb malpractices effectively. What is even more disconcerting is that some instances of malpractice have involved officials, revealing glaring loopholes and casting doubt on the reliability and efficacy of the system.

Now, a recent announcement by the National Medical Commission has reignited the debate surrounding NEET, raising doubts about its much-touted efficacy. On September 20, following the health ministry's directive, the commission announced rather worryingly the reduction of the qualifying percentile for NEET to 'zero' across all categories for postgraduate programmes. The decision, as expected, elicited a range of reactions from astonishment to shock and ridicule. In India's higher education history, this is perhaps the first time zero has become the qualifying percentile for specialised medical education. One cannot help but question if the yardsticks should become more stringent as education becomes more specialised or entirely relaxed to admit everyone who takes the exam.

Among the polarised reactions to the decision, the following stand out. Since allowing candidates with a zero percentile to qualify for postgraduate seats will undoubtedly undermine the system, medical associations and concerned individuals, without wasting time or mincing words, have criticised it, saying it is a form of social injustice. They have also expressed concerns about the quality of medical education and the healthcare system in India. Organisations such as the Federation of All India Medical Associations promptly and rightly denounced the decision as "shocking" and "bizarre". The public and other stakeholders believe such a move will drastically compromise the quality of medical education and healthcare in India.

On the other side of the argument, proponents of the new yardstick have defended the decision. Dr Harish Gupta, a member of the Delhi Medical Council, has assured that there will be no compromise on the quality of medical education. However, it isn't easy to understand how this assurance will be upheld. Dr Lakshya Mittal, president of the United Doctors Front Association, emphasises that the change will allow thousands

EXPRESS

Making zero the qualifying percentile for the common medical test is a flawed decision. It has made medical education costlier and raises broader questions about regulating it better of previously unused non-clinical seats to be used by 'newly eligible' students, preventing the 'national loss' incurred otherwise. The question left lingering is—at what cost and to whose benefit?

This controversial development has compelled educationists to question the validity and credibility of NEET, which was introduced in India with the promise of merit-based admissions and streamlining medical education, apart from a commitment to end corruption in medical colleges through capitation fees. However, the recent move has not only undermined the meritocracy principle that NEET was meant to uphold but has also promoted corruption. Ironically, under this rule, a student with a score below zero can also get a seat if he or she can afford it, raising doubts about the system's efficacy and its avowed ability to transform medical education in India.

NEET has inadvertently contributed to the commercialisation of medical education, with coaching centres raking in substantial revenues. The AK Rajan committee constituted by the Tamil Nadu government to examine the challenges faced by NEET aspirants revealed that the entrance exam primarily benefits the affluent and goes against social justice as it hinders the aspirations of the poor and marginalised. Instead of identifying talent or merit, the test filters out the disadvantaged through its one-size-fits-all approach, which disregards the diverse socio-cultural, economic and educational backgrounds of Indian students, putting undue pressure on those already burdened by the examination-centric education system.

Thus, reducing the NEET cut-off to zero raises broader questions about regulating higher education, particularly medical education. Instead of addressing the root causes of vacant seats each year, the authorities have opted for a quick-fix solution. The primary issue lies in the exorbitant cost of Indian medical education, which is beyond the reach of many. The problem can be addressed by making medical education more affordable and introducing welfare schemes for underprivileged sections. Additionally, unused seats in private institutions should be converted into government seats, and where unfilled seats exist, the central government must return them to the states. Such proactive measures will help strengthen the states' resources and improve the quality of the country's medical system. A decentralised approach may yield better long-term results than hasty, knee-jerk reactions such as this or the proposal to simplify the entrance exam in the years ahead.

The decision to reduce the NEET cut-off to zero, primarily motivated by economic factors, has prompted us to ask crucial questions about the quality of India's medical education, the negative consequences brought about by this change, and our commitment as a welfare society to equity and social justice. The solutions lie in a more nuanced and balanced approach.

TMC MP requests date after Nov 5, cites engagements in constituency

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A day after the Lok Sabha Ethics Committee summoned TMC MP Mahua Moitra regarding cash-for-query allegations, she conveyed her inability on Friday to attend the meeting due to prior commitments and requested a rescheduled date post-November 5. The committee had scheduled her deposition for October 31 after recording 'oral evidence' from BJP MP Nishikant Dubey and advocate Jai Anant Dehadrai, who accused her of accepting bribes to raise questions in Parliament.

In her letter to the committee, Moitra cited her responsibilities as the representative of West Bengal during Durga Puja, which included attending pre-scheduled Vijayadashami sammelans and meetings from October 30 to November 4, making it impossible for her to be in Delhi on October 31. She requested the committee to offer an alternative date after November 5. She also referenced the case of Ramesh Bidhuri, an MP who had been summoned by the Privileges Committee on October 10 and was granted an extension due to pre-existing political commitments, highlighting the need for similar courtesy.

Mahua Moitra, TMC MP

Any inquiry without the oral evidence of Hiranandani will be incomplete, unfair, and akin to holding a proverbial 'kangaroo court' and that too, he will need to be called to depose before the committee as it prepares its final report

In her two-page letter to committee chairman Vinod Kumar Sonkar, Moitra sought permission to cross-examine business tycoon Darshan Hiranandani, who accused her of accepting gifts and favours for raising questions in Parliament.

She expressed concern about the committee's decision to hear the complainants before the accused, which she considered a deviation from the principles of natural justice. Moitra contended that Hiranandani's affidavit lacked essential details and urged him to appear before the committee to provide a comprehensive, verified list of the alleged gifts and favours. She emphasised that a thorough inquiry should involve her right to cross-examine Hiranandani and his participation in presenting detailed evidence.

Moitra stressed that an inquiry without Hiranandani's oral evidence would be incomplete and unfair, akin to a "kangaroo court," and called for him to be summoned to testify before the committee to ensure a comprehensive final report.

She said, "Any inquiry without the oral evidence of Hiranandani will be incomplete, unfair, and akin to holding a proverbial 'kangaroo court,' and that too, he will need to be called to depose before the committee as it prepares its final report."

PM equates Cong with outdated phones

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Friday equated the previous Congress-led UPA government with outdated mobile phones. Launching a fresh broadside against then Congress after inaugurating the India Mobile Congress, the PM said 2014 was not merely as a date, but the beginning of a broader 'badlav' (change) and that 'badlav' has been bringing a notable transformation across the country's political as well developmental landscapes.

"Do you remember the mobile phones of 10-12 years ago? The screens of those outdated phones used to hang every now and then. No matter how much you swiped the screen or pushed the button, there happened to be no effect. And, similar was the situation of the government at that time."

In an apparent reference to Congress-led UPA government, the PM said, "But in 2014, people abandoned such outdated phones and gave us an opportunity to serve them. What happened due to this change is now clearly visible."

Touching upon the telecom industry, he said India was importing mobile phones earlier, but now it has become the exporters. The then government lacked vision and country's position in the mobile manufacturing in the world was almost negligible, the PM said.

"Today, as the second latest mobile manufacturer, we are exporting about ₹2 lakh crore in electronic goods," he claimed, adding that firms like the Apple and Google are becoming manufacturers in India.

Taking a dig at UPA again, Modi said, "Everyone knows what happened during the 2G. During our government, 4G was expanded but there was no stain on us. Now, we are confident that India will lead the world in 6G technology."

Narendra Modi, Prime Minister

Later in the day, speaking at Madhya Pradesh's Chitrakoot, Modi said that the Ram temple in Ayodhya will soon be a dream come true. He also said that Sanskrit is not only the language of traditions, but also of India's progress and identity. "Jagadguru Rambhadracharya ji has played a big role in fulfilling one of the dreams of every countryman, the Ram temple, for which you have contributed so much in and outside the court," he said.

'My Soil, My Country': Big plan in the offing

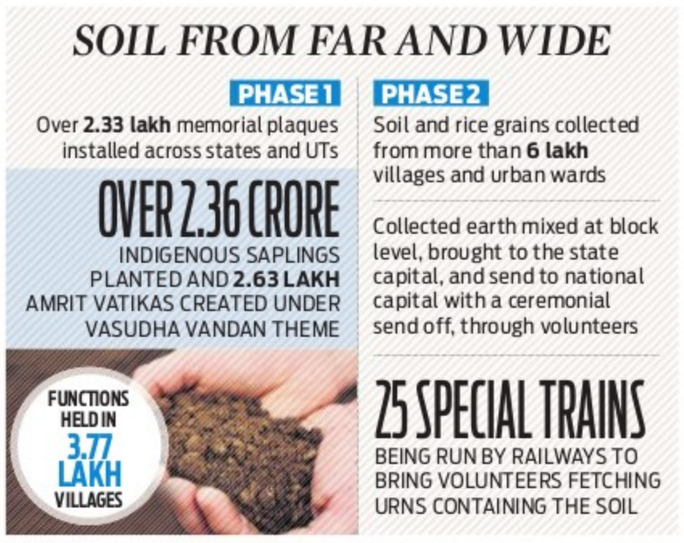
PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

ONE of the biggest programmes of the Central government on national integration — Meri Maati, Mera Desh (My Soil, My Country) — will culminate in the lawns of Kartavya Path in Delhi, after a two-day function that starts on Monday.

Around 20,000 volunteers of Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan, along with representatives of state governments and local bodies, are expected to bring more than 8,500 kalash (urns) carrying soil from their villages and cities. The soil will be used to create a unique garden, Amrit Vatika, in the vicinity of India Gate and National War memorial.

On October 30, Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan volunteers and representatives of blocks and urban local bodies will put their share of earth in one giant urn, or Amrit Kalash, which reflects the spirit of Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat (EBSB), said Govind Mohan, secretary of culture ministry.

"The soil brought will be mixed in the large rotating Kalash prepared for the purpose. The mixture will be used to develop Amrit Vatika along the Kartavya Path at a designated site near India Gate and National War memorial. We have planned indigenous plants for the garden spreading over 12,000 square metres. It may take 4-6 months to complete the project," informed Mohan.



On October 31, the last day of the programme, the Ministry of Culture will organise a couple of cultural performances in the afternoon, after which Prime Minister Narendra Modi will address the Amrit Kalash Yatris (volunteers) from 7,000 blocks of 766 districts and commemorate the brave hearts who laid down their lives for India. The event will mark the culmination of a mega celebration — Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, Commemoration and Celebration of 75 years of India's Independence — which was launched in March 2021.

A majority of volunteers will be travelling in special trains plying for the event. Some will take buses to reach Delhi. Nearly 4,400 participants are part of the state contingents travelling with the volunteers. However, there will be no official representation from the non-BJP ruled states and Manipur.

EBSB is an initiative announced by the PM for enhancement of bonding between the states, thereby boosting the unity and integrity of India.

The ministry has also planned to build a memorial, a 75-metre-long wall with quotes of great leaders, along the Kartavya Path.

Gujarat Congress orders soil from Manipur, sends it to state BJP chief

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @Ahmedabad

THE Gujarat Congress ordered soil from Manipur and sent it to state BJP president CR Patil for the 'Meri Maati Mera Desh' programme in the state, sparking a controversy.

At a joint press conference in Ahmedabad on Friday, Gujarat Congress media co-convenor Hemang Rawal, along with spokespersons Parthivaraj Singh Kathwadia, Hiren Banker and Nishant Rawal said that "Under the programme, the BJP is collecting soil from all over the country and from all the districts of Gujarat, but the soil of Manipur is being ignored. But Congress must not forget Manipur."

"The Manipur Pradesh Congress Committee sent soil from Manipur to Gujarat via courier. We have couriered this soil to BJP president CR Patil. We expect the Manipur soil to be accepted under 'Meri Maati Mera Desh' in Gujarat, and sent to Delhi along with the soil from Gujarat," said the state Congress leaders.

Panel suggests recriminalisation of adultery, reinstatement of Sec 377

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

IN a significant move, a parliamentary panel examining the three criminal justice bills has made recommendations of reinstating the adultery law and Section 377, which criminalises non-consensual sex between men, women or trans persons, according to sources.

The Standing Committee on Home Affairs was mandated with reviewing the three proposed bills, which seek to replace the Indian Penal Code, of 1860, the Criminal Procedure Code, of 1898, and the Indian Evidence Act, of 1872.

The three bills — Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita Bill, 2023, Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita Bill, 2023, and Bharatiya Sakshya Bill, 2023 — were introduced in the Lok Sabha on August 11 by Home Minister Amit Shah. The standing committee headed by BJP Rajya Sabha MP Brijlal was given three months for consultations and to submit its report on the bills. The committee will convene on November 6.

According to people familiar with the development, the members of the panel suggested that adultery should be criminalised and a gender neutral provision should be inserted.

In 2018, the Supreme Court struck down the 158-year-old colonial-era law and held that adultery laws are archaic and unconstitutional. As per the law, if found guilty of adultery, a man could be sentenced to a maximum of five years in prison. The law also did not have the provision for women to file a complaint against an adulterous husband. Incidentally, the Centre had opposed the petition in the court, arguing that striking down adultery laws will be detrimental to the sanctity of marriages.

According to sources, the House panel also recommended reinstating Section 377, which decrimnalised gay sex in India. In a landmark judgment in 2018, the SC struck down Section 377 of the IPC in Navtej Johar vs Union of India, 2018. The verdict was heralded as a watershed moment for right activists in the long-drawn battle for decriminalising homosexuality.

It was also learnt that the panel recommended punishment for murder by mob lynching on par with punishment for murder. Though several opposition members including the DMK raised objections regarding the Hindi titles of the bills, pointing out that it is violative of Article 348, the panel may stick to the titles, sources said.

HAL, Safran Aircraft ink agreement to manufacture commercial engine parts

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

INDIA'S Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd (HAL) and Safran Aircraft Engines of France signed a Memorandum of Understanding on Friday to develop industrial cooperation in 'ring forging' for commercial engines in aerospace.

Ring forging is a manufacturing process for shaping metal by hammering, pressing or rolling, while the metal is in a molten state. Forged rings are stronger and more durable and are used in a wide range of industries including aerospace and in applications where strength and durability are critical.

"HAL will produce LEAP (Leading Edge Aviation Propulsion) — powering Airbus A320 Neo family and Boeing 737 Max engine — forgings at its facility in Bengaluru," said a statement from HAL. For India, HAL is the nodal aviation manufacturing organisation with experience and infrastructure.

"Safran is a long-standing partner, especially on our helicopter programmes, as evidenced by the joint development of the Shakti helicopter engine. We are also going to co-design and co-produce the next generation IMRH engine with Safran," said CB Anantha krishnan, chairman and managing director of HAL.

Military engine production has been the weakest link of the indigenous defence manufacturing capability.

India and the US are in the process of executing jet engine-related transfer of technology for 110 kilonewton engine production. "The agreement will be signed soon and within three years, India will have this engine," said a senior official of the Ministry of Defence. The number of engines to be co-produced will be around 100.

While the helicopter fleet is getting modernised, the IAF has to make up for the depleting Combat Squadrons, down to around 30 as against a sanctioned strength of 42.

Deepening ties: India's bilateral trade with Riyadh at all-time high

RAKESH MOHAN JOSHI
Director, IIPM Bengaluru and professor, Indian Institute of Foreign Trade

INDIA'S trade outreach is fast becoming the centrepiece of its deepening relationship with the Middle East. In particular, India's relations with Saudi Arabia have seen an unprecedented growth in recent years, with a sharp rise in trade and investments. Saudi Arabia's abundance of natural resources, economic and cultural influence, its critical location in the Middle East and connectivity complement India's capability to provide cost-effective technologies, human resources, capital and marketing opportunities. India's growing economy, digital public infrastructure and institutional stability have made it a preferred trade and investment destination.

Saudi Arabia is pursuing an economic diversification strategy beyond hydrocarbons to newer domains exploring innovative investment tools and new collaborations from across the world. India was the fourth country after the UK, France and China to partner with the Saudis to establish a strategic partnership council in 2019. It is aimed at taking forward collaborations on economy and investments, apart from social, political and security issues.

Saudi Arabia contributes to India's energy security and India supports Saudi Arabia's food security. India imports 86 percent of its oil requirement and the Middle East accounts for over 60 percent of it. On the other hand, Saudi Arabia imports large parts of its food needs and manufactured goods including textiles. Therefore, the bilateral relationship is highly symbiotic.

The Future Investment Initiative (FII), established in October 2019, has grown as a global platform for businesses and countries to identify areas to innovate in for sustainable and inclusive growth. The seventh edition of the FII, held during October 24-25 in Riyadh, had the theme 'the New Compass'. It looked at the emerging world economic order, provided a platform for dialogue between international businesses and leaders, and for trade and investment promotion.

Among the leaders, Piyush Goyal — Union minister holding the commerce, industry, textile, food and consumer affairs portfolios — was instrumental in forging trade and investment linkages between the two countries. Saudi Arabia is interested in Indian collaborations on lab-grown diamonds. Earlier this week, Saudi jewellery firm Dana Al-Alami partnered with Indian firm Green Lab Diamonds. Earlier this month, India and Saudi Arabia committed to exchanging electricity during peak hours, co-producing green hydrogen and renewable energy, and jointly establishing sustainable and resilient supply chains.

The emerging multi-polar world faces a number of worries — the Israel-Palestine conflict, Russia-Ukraine war, US-China tensions, post-pandemic economic woes, and impending fears of a worldwide recession. In this scenario, an effective bilateral institutional mechanism for trade and investment between India and Saudi Arabia would be mutually synergistic and provide a much-needed economic boost to both.

India's credibility as a trade and investment destination received a major boost from a series of events hosted by India during its G20 presidency. Saudi Arabia is critical to establishing the ambitious new trade route — the India-Middle East-Europe Corridor — that was part of the G20 summit declaration. In recent years, structural reforms in Saudi Arabia on foreign investment, corporate governance and capital markets have increased Indian opportunities. India provides immense cost-effective opportunities for Saudi businesses in the fields of artificial intelligence, robotics, education, health and sustainability.

Riyadh eyeing diversification beyond hydrocarbons

Saudi Arabia is pursuing an economic diversification strategy beyond hydrocarbons to newer domains exploring innovative investment tools and new collaborations from across the world. India was the fourth country after the UK, France and China to partner with the Saudis to establish a strategic partnership council in 2019.

India's trade with the Arab world has touched an all-time high of $240 billion. India is Saudi Arabia's second largest trading partner, with bilateral trade reaching all time high of $52.75 billion in 2022-23. India's major exports to Saudi Arabia are motor vehicles, petroleum products, rice, organic chemicals, copper products, telecom equipment, buffalo meat and aluminium products; it imports crude petroleum, fertilisers, raw plastic, and organic and inorganic chemicals.

Despite the Gulf region being home to the largest Indian community abroad, its enormous economic potential remains underexplored. The six countries of the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) — the United Arab Emirates, Saudi Arabia, Oman, Qatar, Kuwait and Bahrain — host over 8.8 million non-resident Indians, constituting over 66 percent of all NRIs. According to the Reserve Bank, the GCC accounted for about 30 percent of all foreign inward remittances in 2020-21. The large Indian diaspora in the Gulf, present at every level from the grassroots to top management, is keen to engage with Indian firms. This is an asset waiting to be tapped to its fullest potential.

FRIDAY PRAYERS

Congregational prayers at the historic Jamia Masjid in Nowhatta area of Srinagar were barred for the third consecutive Friday amid apprehension of protests against the Israeli action in Gaza, officials said.

■ Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot unveils five guarantees ■ Nadda says 2-wheelers for meritorious Class 12 girl students in N-E state

Cong to buy cow dung, give laptops

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE ruling Congress has come out with five new promises for Rajasthan where the polls are due on November 25 for the 200-member Assembly.

At a press conference in Jaipur on Friday, Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot said that if his party retains power, it will introduce a Godhan guarantee, designed on the Chhattisgarh government's model, whereby cow dung from cattle farmers will be bought for ₹2 a kilo.

The CM promised admission for all students in government English medium schools and the introduction of English medium colleges.

The Chief Minister announced that laptops or tablets will be given to students in every college along with admission.

"The Congress will also ensure a natural disaster insurance of up to ₹15 lakh for affected families. The government will also commence granting old-age pensions to state employees in the budget and promises to enact an Old Pension Scheme guarantee law," said Gehlot.

The Congress has announced a total of seven election guarantees. Two were introduced two days ago during Priyanka Gandhi's rally in Jhunjhunu district. These include an annual ₹10,000 honorarium for female heads of households and ₹500 per LPG cylinder under the Griha Lakshmi Guarantee Scheme.

Gehlot said besides these guarantees, his party would soon release its election manifesto. "Five camps are being set up in each constituency to popularise the seven guarantees. We will also go door-to-door and distribute guarantee cards," he said.

Gehlot directed his criticism at the Central government and the BJP about the ED raids targeting Congress leaders ahead of the elections.

Referring to Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel, Gehlot said, "It is unfortunate that a CM has to assert that the ED is conducting more searches than dogs." Gehlot, however, clarified that "whatever comment he must have made, you can understand he must have done that in great pain."

"Modi ji does not understand, but his countdown has begun in the country. Prime Minister Modi is so apprehensive about our guarantees in Rajasthan that he has started making similar promises. He is following our guarantee model," said Gehlot.

Amid allegations against the Modi government, Union minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat claimed that if people looked at the record of nine years of ED, the conviction rate has been 94%. Responding to the Gehlot's charges, the minister said, "The Gehlot government has played with the future of the state's youth. The CM is trying to influence the impartial investigation."

Shekhawat said that in the paper leak case, 19 cases have come to light. "But Congress leaders have whitewashed these cases. Despite continuous paper leaks, the Gehlot government has given a clean chit to officers and politicians without conducting any investigation," the minister said.

BJP promises 33% quota for women, drug-free Mizoram

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Aizawl

THE spotlight is on the drug menace as Mizoram braces for the November 7 Assembly elections. The BJP on Friday promised a drug-free Mizoram if voted to power in the landlocked state. The BJP won just one seat in the 2018 elections and is trying hard to leave a footprint in the state this election. It is contesting 23 of the state's 40 seats.

Releasing the election manifesto, BJP chief JP Nadda said the party would launch "operation drug-free Mizoram" to curb addiction among the state's youth.

The drug menace has assumed serious proportions in Mizoram. According to the state's Excise and Narcotics Department, drugs killed 1,794 people since 1984. The figure this year stands at 58.

Drugs, manufactured in Myanmar, are often smuggled into India through the porous international border. Mizoram as well as Manipur, Nagaland and Arunachal Pradesh shares a border with the neighbouring country. During his recent visit to the state, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi had attacked the Zoramthanga government on many issues including drugs.

"Drugs are reaching across the state to destroy our youth," he had said. The BJP made a series of promises to woo voters, particularly women, considering that they outnumber their male counterparts.

The party promised 33% reservation for women in all government jobs, free quality education to all girl students from the level of kindergarten to post-graduation, and free Scooty to meritorious class 12 girl students. Mizoram has been for years embroiled in a bitter border dispute with Assam, and Nadda promised that the BJP would try to resolve it by collaborating with the Central and Assam governments.

"We will provide employment and self-employment opportunities to at least one member of every household and double the per-family annual health insurance from ₹5 lakh to ₹10 lakh under Ayushman Bharat," the BJP president said.

Zakat empowers students with education

Chhattisgarh Zakat Foundation, during its nine years of educational support to 4,500 students, has created its own niche. The foundation had disbursed over ₹3 crore zakat funds as scholarships and monetary support to Muslim students steeped in poverty and could not afford education. Hundreds of students turned graduates with many securing admission in medical, engineering and other courses. Rajya Sabha MP Imran Pratapgarhi, who graced the annual function in Raipur, said that education can save the community from ignorance or adversity to become successful in life.

No foundation day celebration this year?

Chhattisgarh observes 'Foundation Day' celebration as Rajyotsava on November 1 every year after the state was carved out from erstwhile Madhya Pradesh in 2000. Even during the model code of conduct in every Assembly polls held, there never was a break when a low-key Rajyotsava celebration was organised without participation of political leaders. But with three days remaining and no official directive in place, the people of Chhattisgarh wonder if for the first time there won't be a statehood day event.

AAP to contest only 50% seats in state

The AAP proclaiming to expand its base and contest all 90 assembly constituencies of Chhattisgarh in the upcoming polls has abruptly decided to fight only in 45 seats. The party has defended the decision citing that it will be better to focus on the 45 seats where the probability remains high for the party. Amid the political speculations going rife, the AAP leaders contended that the decision has nothing to do with any imagined challenge cited to the unity of the INDIA coalition of opposition parties including Congress. AAP that contested in all 90 constituencies in 2018 polls failed to win a single seat. This time AAP has declared 'ten guarantees' as its pledges.

GANGSTER ACT

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

Uma Bharti fails to find place in BJP's star cast for MP election campaign

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

THE BJP has unveiled its star campaigner list for the upcoming Madhya Pradesh Assembly polls on November 17, but it conspicuously omitted former Chief Minister Uma Bharti, who had previously led the party to a historic victory in the state in 2003.

The released list boasts prominent names such as PM Narendra Modi, BJP's National President JP Nadda, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, 15 other Union ministers, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath, Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis, and UP Deputy Chief Ministers Brijesh Pathak and Keshav Prasad Maurya. It also includes several current and former MP ministers and the State BJP Chief VD Sharma.

Notably, Uma Bharti, who had been a star campaigner for the party in the 2018 assembly polls and the 2020 by-elections, is missing from the roster. Her absence comes just a day after she announced her intention to embark on a pilgrimage to the Himalayas after seeking blessings at temples in her village in MP's Tikamgarh district.

While Bharti praised the BJP's accomplishments under the leadership of Shivraj Singh Chouhan, she also raised concerns about issues like the Ken-Betwa inter-river linking project that has been pending since 2017 and inadequate efforts for cow protection and promotion in the state. She lamented the delayed return of the goddess Saraswati idol at Dhar Bhojshala and unresolved status of the gates of the Someshwar Temple in Raisen, despite assurances from a national BJP leader.

Expressing her desire for the BJP to regain power in Madhya Pradesh, Bharti emphasised her support for PM's leadership but also called for amendments to include OBC, SC, and ST quotas in the legislation that recently granted 33% reservation to women in the Lok Sabha and Vidhan Sabhas.

'Victim of conspiracy,' says Mamata minister after arrest

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE Enforcement Directorate on Friday arrested Jyotipriya Mallick, who served as the food supplies minister from 2011-2021 before taking charge of forest department, in connection with an alleged ration scam after a 20-hour-long interrogation at his Salt Lake residence in West Bengal.

The 65-year-old is the second minister of Mamata Banerjee cabinet to be arrested after Partha Chatterjee in connection with irregularities in the school recruitment.

Mallick was taken into custody for discrepancies in his statement and non-cooperating with the investigators, according to an ED official.

Mallick, a Trinamool Congress strongman in North 24-Parganas district, fell off the chair as soon as the magistrate of Bankshall court remanded him to ED's custody till November 6. His family then pleaded that Mallick be taken to a private hospital in EM Bypass. The court, however, turned down the plea. The court allowed Mallick to have food from his home and also directed the ED to take the minister to Army's Command Hospital, if necessary, before taking him to the central agency's CGO complex office in Salt Lake.

"I am a victim of grave conspiracy hatched by the BJP and Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari," said Mallick, while being taken out of his residence by ED officials.

Adhikari requested the ED director to investigate chief minister's alleged involvement in the ration scam as she had appointed a "tainted" retired IAS officer as the managing director of West Bengal Essential Commodities Supply Corporation to "help Mallick".

Earlier, Mallick was taken to ESI Hospital in Thakurpukur, on the southern outskirts of Kolkata, for medical check-up, which continued for three hours. He was then taken to Bankshall court.

Hours after the ED raided Mallick's residence and seven other places on Thursday, Mamata held an unscheduled press conference and lashed out against the Centre's "misuse of central agencies". Mamata had said that she would lodge an FIR against the BJP and ED if anything happens to Mallick, who has high blood sugar.

Deadline for panel on Maratha quota extended

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ New Delhi

THE Maharashtra government on Friday issued a GR (government resolution) extending the deadline for the Sandeep Shinde-appointed committee to find the Nizam-era documents to prove Maratha as Kunbi till December 24, a key element for determining beneficiaries for a quota in educational and government jobs.

After a protest by the community for terming Marathas as Kunbi and giving them Other Backward Class reservations, the state government on September 7 formed a committee, helmed by retired Justice Sandeep Shinde, to collect the Nizam-era documents to verify the Maratha quota leaders' claims.

Quota leader Manoj Jarange Patil claims that all Marathas were earlier Kunbi and that there are relevant historical references. He argues that since all Marathas are Kunbi, so they deserve the OBC status, enabling them a share in government reservation.

The government has asked the committee to study all old documents, family genealogy, educational and revenue documents, Nizam-era agreements and documents of the Marathwada region. The Marathwada region of Maharashtra was ruled by the Nizam and it was part of Hyderabad state in post- and pre-Independence India. Therefore, most references are supposed to be found in Hyderabad.

The Shinde committee has had nine meetings and it has started checking pre-Independence and pre-1967 documents, revenue records, police, birth and death certificates, educational documents and other references to find out whether Marathas were referred to as a Kunbi in these documents.

The committee said most such records are either in Urdu or Farsi language, necessitating studies by language and translation experts. The committee has also decided to visit all districts of Marathwada region to collect the records.

"Besides, most of the documents are in a poor state. The collected documents' legality also needs to be checked. The eight districts were also asked to submit their separate reports. One consolidated report will be filed and submitted to the state government," stated the government order.

Meanwhile, activist Manoj Jarange, whose indefinite fast over the Maratha quota issue entered the third day on Friday, said the Maharashtra government can convene a special one-day session of the state legislature to grant reservation to the community.

Gigantic task for committee

- Marathas are said to belong to the Kunbi community, enabling them OBC quota
- A govt-appointed panel has to find out Nizam-era documents to prove Marathas as Kunbi
- The Nizam-era papers have faded and are written in Persian or Urdu
- The Marathwada region of Maharashtra was ruled by the Nizam and it was part of Hyderabad state

THREE ethnic rebel groups on Friday launched a coordinated offensive in northeastern Myanmar to seize military targets

HAMAS, U.N. PUSHBACK AS ISRAEL SAYS GAZA HOSPS USED FOR COMBAT

TEL AVIV

THE Israeli army accused Hamas on Friday of abusing hospitals in the Gaza Strip for military purposes, as war rages in and around the Palestinian territory.

The allegation was swiftly denied by Hamas, and the main United Nations agency working in Gaza said earlier it had mechanisms in place to prevent aid being diverted.

"Hamas wages war from hospitals" in Gaza, military spokesman Daniel Hagari told journalists, adding that the Islamist group was also using fuel stored in hospitals to help carry out its operations.

Hagari specifically identified Al-Shifa hospital, the largest in Gaza, as one from which Hamas militants were operating. "Terrorists move freely" in Shifa and other hospitals, he said.

Hagari said Hamas had relied on hospitals to maintain its war effort, charging that the group had used hospitals "as command and control centres and hideouts."

The spokesman said some entrances to the sprawling network of tunnels Hamas has built under Gaza could also be found inside hospitals, calling it a "cynical" use of medical facilities to shield their operations. "There is fuel in hospitals and Hamas is using it for its terror infrastructure," he added.

A senior member of the Hamas political bureau, Izzat al-Rishq, swiftly fired back at the allegations from the Israeli army, calling them unfounded. "There's no basis in truth in what the spokesman of the enemy army stated," Rishq said, accusing Israel of making up the allegations to "pave the way for a new massacre to be committed against our people."

Earlier, the commissioner general for the UN agency for Palestinian refugees (UNRWA), Philippe Lazzarini, denied that any aid was being diverted. "We have solid monitoring mechanisms... UNRWA does not and will not divert any humanitarian aid into the wrong hands," Lazzarini said.

Hagari's allegations came as Israel pressed a withering air campaign against Hamas, now nearing the end of its third week, in response to the gruesome attacks by the group's militants on southern Israel on October 7.

Meanwhile, French President Emmanuel Macron called on Friday for a "humanitarian truce" in the Hamas-Israel conflict to protect civilians in the Gaza Strip, which is under heavy bombardment, and to expedite the release of hostages.

Macron said, "A humanitarian truce is useful today to be able to protect those who are on the ground, who have suffered bombings." AFP

Former Chinese premier Li Keqiang dies at 68

HONG KONG

THE sudden death of China's former second-ranking leader, Li Keqiang, has shocked many people in the country, with tributes offered up to the ex-official who promised market-oriented reforms.

Li, who died early Friday of a heart attack, was China's top economic official for a decade, helping navigate the world's second-largest economy through challenges such as rising political, economic and military tensions with the United States as well as the Covid-19 pandemic.

"Li was extolled as an excellent (Communist Party of China) member, a time-tested and loyal communist soldier and an outstanding proletarian revolutionist, statesman and leader of the Party and the state," Xinhua News Agency said.

Li was known for his advocacy of private business but lost much of his influence as President Xi Jinping accumulated ever-greater powers and elevated the military and security services in aid of the "great rejuvenation of the Chinese nation."

The Chinese government, however, had little to say immediately about Li. Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Mao Ning asked reporters to refer to information from Xinhua and the obituary released later. "We deeply mourn over the tragic passing of Comrade Li Keqiang due to a sudden heart attack," she said.

US Secretary of State Antony Blinken expressed his condolences on the passing of Li, said Matthew Miller, State Department spokesperson.

Li, an English-speaking economist, was from a generation of politicians schooled during a time of greater openness to liberal Western ideas. AP

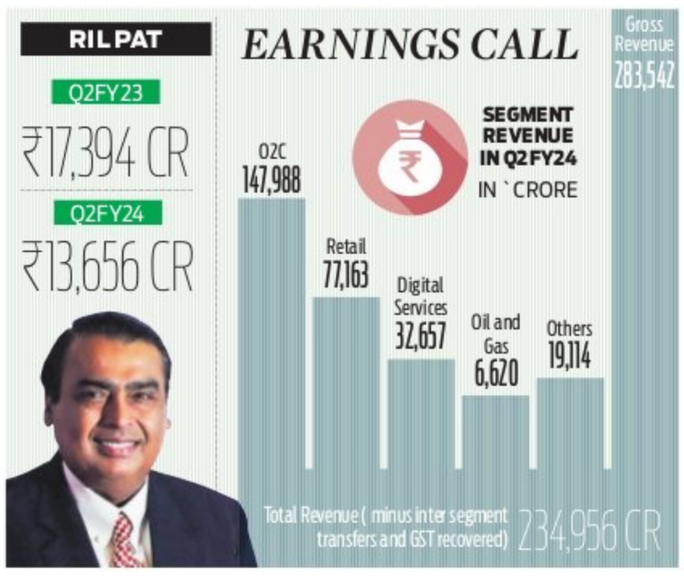
Improved margin in O2C biz lifts RIL profit

Consolidated net profit up 27% at ₹17,394 cr, net debt falls to ₹2.95 lakh cr in Q2FY24 against ₹3.18 lakh cr in Q2FY22

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi



BOOSTED by margin recovery in its mainstay oil-to-chemical (O2C) business, Reliance Industries Ltd (RIL) on Friday reported a 27% jump in consolidated net profit (attributable to owners of the company) at ₹17,394 crore for the quarter ending September (Q2FY24).

RIL had reported a net profit of ₹13,656 crore in the same quarter last year and ₹16,011 crore in the preceding June quarter (Q1FY24). Consolidated revenue of India's largest company rose 1% to ₹2.34 lakh crore in Q2FY24 as against ₹2.32 lakh crore in Q2FY23. The PAT and revenue were in line with street estimates.

Even as the O2C business' revenue for Q2FY24 fell 7.3% year-on-year (YoY) to ₹147,988 crore on account of a sharp 14% reduction in crude oil prices, this segment's EBITDA (earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, and amortization) surged 36% YoY at ₹16,281 crore with strength in gasoline and PVC margins, optimised feedstock sourcing and lower special additional excise duty (SAED) in-line with decline in middle-distillate cracks. This segment's EBITDA margin grew 350 bps in one year to 11% in Q2FY24.

"Resilient performance of the O2C segment despite volatility in energy markets was led by strong growth in fuel demand in a supply-constrained market. Weak global demand and supply-overhang continued to impact downstream margins. The growth of oil and gas business is particularly noteworthy with production from KGD6 block ramping up and providing valuable fuel for energy transition to the Indian economy," said RIL Chairman Mukesh Ambani.

The telecom unit of RIL - Jio Infocomm - posted a 4% sequential rise in net profit due to higher expenses and lack of tariff hikes. Jio's net profit rose 4% to ₹5,058 crore in Q2FY24 from ₹4,863 crore in Q1FY24. This segment's revenue rose 3% sequentially to ₹24,750 crore in Q2FY24 while the average revenue per user (ARPU) rose marginally to ₹181.7 in Q2FY24 as compared to ₹180.5 a quarter ago. Profit of the retail business, Reliance Retail, grew 21% YoY to ₹2,790 crore in Q2FY24. The segment's revenue from operations rose 19.5% YoY to ₹68,937 crore in Q2FY24.

RIL's net debt declined to ₹2.95 lakh crore in Q2FY24 against ₹3.18 lakh crore in Q1FY24. The company's cash and cash equivalents in Q2FY24 stood at ₹1.77 lakh crore, which includes a ₹10,347-crore capital raise in Reliance Retail.

Ambani scions to be non-exec directors

NEW DELHI: Billionaire Mukesh Ambani's three children won approval of shareholders for being part of the board of Reliance Industries Ltd, setting in motion a succession plan at the country's most valuable company. While twins Akash and Isha, 32, received more than 98% of the votes for a board seat, Anant, 28, whose appointment had been opposed by proxy advisory firms because of his young age, managed to receive 92.7% votes. Reliance Industries Chairman Mukesh Ambani, 66, had at the annual shareholders meeting in August announced the succession plan. ENS

PHILIPPINES

CENTRAL BANK DELIVERS OFF-CYCLE RATE HIKE

The Central Bank of the Philippines' (BSP) has raised its benchmark interest rate by 25 basis points in an off-cycle meeting. Governor Eli Remolona said the central bank should have resumed monetary tightening at its September 21 meeting. The BSP's six-member monetary board decided to increase its target reverse repurchase rate to 6.5%, effective October 27. It also raised overnight deposit and lending rates by the same amount, to 6% and 7%, respectively. With the Philippine peso (PHP) on relatively stable footing and inflation being driven largely by supply-side factors, the off-cycle rate hike was carried out in a bid to ensure inflation expectations stay well-anchored going into 2024. Despite being an off-cycle move, the market had been anticipating additional tightening from Remolona, who has been signalling a potential rate hike over the past month. BSP's off-cycle rate hike indicates Governor Remolona's commitment to price stability as he hopes to corral inflation expectations. Remolona has hinted in the past that he would possibly need to hike more than once.

SOUTH KOREA

THIRD QUARTER GDP INCREASES 0.6% QUARTERLY ON RECOVERY IN EXPORTS

The economy of South Korea grew 0.6% in the third quarter of 2023 from the previous quarter, reporting growth for three consecutive quarters on a recovery in exports. But uncertainty remains high on account of lingering inflationary pressure coupled with growing external geopolitical risks. According to the Bank of Korea's (BOK) advance estimates released on Thursday, gross domestic product (GDP) jumped 0.6% in the July-September period from the prior three months on a seasonally adjusted basis. The country's economy grew at the same pace as in the preceding quarter and maintained its growth trend for a third quarter in a row after dipping below zero in the fourth quarter of 2022, the first economic contraction in two and a half years for Asia's fourth-largest economy. The country still remains uncertain whether the economy will meet the central bank's growth projection of 1.4% for this year due to high inflation and the Israel-Hamas war in the oil-rich Middle East, warned the Bank of Korea. On an annual basis, Korea's GDP rose 1.4% in the third quarter after a 0.9% gain in the second quarter.

THAILAND

REVISED GROWTH OUTLOOK FOR 2023 LOWERED TO 2.7%

Thailand's Ministry of Finance has lowered its economic growth forecast for 2023 from 3.5% to 2.7% on account of weaker exports and lower government consumption. The ministry, however, has predicted a higher growth rate of 3.2% for 2024. The country's economy is reliant on tourism and domestic consumption as its exports remain weak. Thailand's exports are projected to contract 1.8% this year, but it is expected to rise by 4.4% in 2024. The ministry also revised down the number of expected foreign tourists for this year from 29.5 million to 27.7 million, with a prediction of 34.5 million in 2024. In 2019, Thailand welcomed nearly 40 million foreign tourists, who contributed over 11% of the country's gross domestic product (GDP). The country's economy is under pressure as the export is expected to fall and the tourism sector yet to see traction in tourist inflow. Due to Covid pandemic, tourism sector of the economy was impacted severely and which has not yet returned to the pre-pandemic level.

Entry-level car sales revival vital for PV industry: Bhargava

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

MARUTI SUZUKI (MSIL) Chairman RC Bhargava said on Friday that the revival of entry-level car sales is very important for the growth of India's passenger vehicle (PV) industry.

The Chairman expressed hope that demand for smaller cars will make a comeback in the next two-three years.

Bhargava signalled that without this, sustained high growth of the PV industry at 6-7% in a market like India is very unlikely. "I have been told that the industry is not very optimistic and has projected stagnant growth for the next fiscal (FY24-25). I think this is partly because of degrowth in the smaller car segment," he said after MSIL reported robust figures for the quarter ending September 2023 (Q2FY24).

Hit by distress in the rural economy, rising prices and a shift in preference towards sports utility vehicles (SUVs), the sale of smaller cars this July-September quarter hit a low of 35,000 units versus 77,000 units in the same quarter a year back, as per Siam data. This was also a big drop of 75% from the nearly 1.38 lakh small cars sold in the same quarter of 2018. Maruti faced the maximum impact of this slowdown as it dominates this segment with models such as Alto, Celerio and WagonR.

Bhargava said that given the kind of consumer and demography India has, the fact that we have 150-180 million 2W users, demand for entry-level cars has to come back. This can be achieved only if the unfavourable affordability factor gets eroded and the per capita income of consumers rises from the current level, he remarked.

Bhargava expects competition (all other carmakers combined) in FY24 to grow at 5.50% while he is hopeful for his company to clock a growth of 10% and sell over 18 lakh units. When combined with exports, Maruti is also likely to hit the 20 lakh milestone in a single year this fiscal.

Maruti Suzuki reported an 80% year-on-year rise in net profit at ₹3,716.5 crore in Q2FY24 on the back of better sales, softening commodity prices, cost reduction efforts and higher non-operating income. Net sales surged 24% to ₹35,535.1 crore. The company sold 5,52,055 vehicles during the quarter as against 5,17,395 units in Q2 of last fiscal.

City Union Bank Q2 profit flat at ₹281 cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

CITY UNION BANK on Friday reported nearly flat net profit of ₹281 crore for the quarter ending September 2023.

The Tamil Nadu-based lender had reported a net profit of ₹276 crore for the same quarter the previous year. Total income of the bank during the July-September quarter increased to ₹1,486 crore as compared to ₹1,355 crore in the same quarter a year ago, City Union Bank said in a regulatory filing.

The bank's interest income grew to ₹1,304 crore from ₹1,181 crore in the corresponding quarter a year ago.

Asset quality of the lender deteriorated as the gross non-performing assets (NPAs) rose to 4.66% of gross advances as of September 2023 from 4.36% by the end of September 2022.

However, net NPAs (bad loans) declined marginally to 2.34% as compared to 2.69%. Provisions for bad loans and contingencies declined to ₹56 crore during the quarter as compared to ₹105 crore reserved for the year-ago period.

Tamilnad Mercantile Bank profit at ₹274 cr

CHENNAI: Tamilnad Mercantile Bank Ltd (TMB) has reported a net profit of ₹274 crore in Q2FY24 as against ₹262 crore in the same period a year ago. Total income has improved to ₹1,365 crore in the quarter from ₹1,141 crore the previous year. The bank's net interest income (NII) has increased to ₹533 crore for Q2 FY 24 as against ₹509 crore in Q2FY24, registering a growth of 4.72%. The bank's deposits has increased to ₹47,314 crore in Q2FY24 as against ₹43,137crore in the previous year. Net worth rose to ₹7,384 crore YoY from ₹6,461 crore. ENS

Market gains 1% on robust US economic data

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AFTER a steep decline of 5% in just six sessions, domestic equity market gained a little over 1% on Friday on the back of broad-based buying at lower level and robust economic data from the United States, which lifted the Asian markets.

The 50-share Nifty pack added 190 points or 1.01% to settle at 19,047.25, while 30-share index Sensex rose 1.01% or 634.65 points to 63,782.80. The broader indices outpaced the frontline benchmarks as Nifty Smallcap surged 2.01% and Nifty Midcap 100 added 1.54%. Despite some recovery, Nifty and Sensex both declined by nearly 2.5% this week, ranking them among the top losers in the global equity markets.

Tension in Middle East due to Israel-Hamas conflict is expected to keep investors on their toes. Concerns over the rising US bond yields, slowing global growth, lacklustre September quarter earnings and expectations of higher interest rates will continue to challenge the bulls of Dalal Street.

"Despite strong rebound, we suspect benchmarks are not out of the woods yet. For markets to remain buoyant, some resolution is needed between the ongoing Israel-Hamas war. Confirmation of major strength in Nifty only above 19700 mark," said Prashanth Tapse, Senior VP (Research), Mehta Equities.

'Tough for employees to dedicate such long hours'

"RATHER it's our moment to go all in and build in 1 generation what other countries have built over many generations!" he wrote on X.

Many netizens have not agreed with the 70-hour work week statement made by Murthy. They say it is tough for employees to dedicate such long hours and also pointed out negative health repercussions due to overwork.

"In today's evolving knowledge-driven and service-oriented economy, where individuals have diverse interests and passions beyond work, this approach may not be as effective. It's essential to consider the changing dynamics of the modern workforce," said Aditya Narayan Mishra, MD & CEO of CIEL HR Services.

"We need a pragmatic approach to make our firms more productive. We need to focus on employee upskilling and mental health, invest in cutting-edge technologies, pursue kaizen and other innovative practices and above all, make the workplace welcoming and fulfilling for the employees," he added.

Disagreeing with Murthy's statement, edtech firm upGrad founder Ronnie Screwvala in a post said that boosting productivity isn't just about working longer hours. It's about getting better at what you do - Upskilling, having a positive work environment and fair pay for the work done.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IBM on Friday announced the launch of watsonx Code Assistant, a generative AI-powered assistant that helps enterprise developers and IT operators code more quickly and more accurately using natural language prompts.

The product leverages generative AI based on IBM's Granite foundation models for code running on IBM's watsonx platform. "With this launch, watsonx Code Assistant joins watsonx Orchestrate and watsonx Assistant in IBM's growing line of watsonx assistants that provide enterprises with tangible ways to implement generative AI," said Kareem Yusuf, Senior Vice President, Product Management and Growth, IBM Software.

"Watsonx Code Assistant puts AI-assisted code development and application modernisation tools directly into the hands of developers – in a naturally integrated way that is designed to be non-disruptive – to help address skills gaps and increase productivity," Yusuf added.

TCS holds a long-term partnership with IBM, and Keshav Varma, ISU Head, Technology, Software and Services Business Unit, TCS, said there is a significant need for the developer productivity gains that generative AI can bring to transform applications on the mainframe.

On the sidelines of India Mobile Congress (IMC), on gen AI, Saurabh Kumar Sahu, MD and Lead – Communications, Media and Technology, Accenture in India, said, "Generative AI can drive efficiencies, freeing up time and resources critical for telcos to innovate their network and transform their business to be agile and resilient. Support staff & team members helping players rejuvenate during the bowling innings, especially in afternoons, has been a trend in this World Cup | ASHWIN PRASATH

OUTSIDE SUPPORT IN PLAY

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

INDIA'S throwdown specialist Raghu Raghavendraa went viral last November when India overcame Bangladesh in a T20 World Cup match at the Adelaide Oval. More than the player, it was Raghu, who got traction on the social media sites with netizens showering praise on him. Running around the field with a brush in his hand, he was cleaning the shoes of Indian players to prevent them from skidding due to the wet conditions.

Even in this World Cup support staff's contribution has been critical, especially during matches played during hot and humid conditions, like in Chennai when Pakistan met South Africa in a group game on Friday. It rained before the game and as the sun started beating down the MA Chidambaram Stadium, temperature rose. Humidity too was high.

South Africa fast bowlers Lungi Ngidi and Marco Jansen would saunter languidly to the third man for a drink after every over. A member of the South Africa team (support staff) was marshalling the boundary line with a towel, at times with an ice pack and different coloured liquid bottles in hand.

This has been a feature of late and in the World Cup no team wanted to keep their players dehydrated and tired. Ramji Srinivasan, former India strength and conditioning coach, rightly defines the role of support staff. "It is the duty of support staff to help the players. Earlier, we never used to have so many support staff. They should always be there for players at any point in time. You have to be on the field. They are meant to support and help the players in whatever capacity they can apart from their specialised duty," he told this daily.

Most of the time, they have to move around the boundary rope to take care of players. Apart from carrying water bottles and sports drinks, they carry wet towels and ice packs with them to prevent players from getting dehydrated and cool them down in case of excessive heat and humidity. They are also stationed at different positions to make sure players don't have to cover the ground to fetch the ball disposed of for the boundary. This way they help players in preserving their energy. "This has been in practice for quite some time now. Players cannot come to one place all the time to refresh themselves except for a drinks break. So we usually place bottles and hydration drinks on the boundary, especially at far-off areas like third man, deep fine leg, long on, long off and midwicket. In places like Chennai and Mumbai where the humidity is very high, the probability of dehydration is quite high. So to keep them hydrated, reserve players and support staff go around with towels and sometimes in extreme heat wet towels or ice packs. If they wipe their faces with these cold towels or keep them around their necks then heat evaporation is very quick and the body cools down quickly. Especially at the nape of the neck, these towels help in keeping body temperature at the optimum level so that they don't get dehydrated and stay free from fatigue." While hydration is important, the member of the support staff has to ensure that the players are not hyper-hydrated. "You cannot be waterlogged as well otherwise it will affect your mobility in the field and feel like going to rest room frequently."

Dehydration causes cramps and at times may lead to blackouts as well. South Africa batter Heinrich Klaasen experienced it firsthand when he hammered a match-winning century against England in Mumbai last week. "Drinking water immediately has to be avoided as it may cause blackouts. So everything begins well in advance. We play a vital role in chalking out team's practice and training schedule, the timings of their meals and what hydration plan an individual would need. These hydration protocols have to be adhered to in a strict professional manner no matter what and again it's the duty of support staff to maintain it."

So next time when you appreciate players for their efforts on the field, save some words of praise for these unsung heroes whose work began long before the cricketers take the field and continue even after the match is over. Full story: newindianexpress.com

While the riches of the subcontinental giant is growing, there is a lack of Indian coaches at helm in ODI WCs. Swaroop Swaminathan tries to understand why...

Where are the Indian coaches?

THE image of a smiling Ajay Jadeja was hard to miss post Afghanistan's win over Pakistan at Chennai. Jadeja was brought on board as a mentor ahead of the World Cup and his presence is bearing fruit. "It's good because he has a lot of experience of playing international cricket," skipper Hashmatullah Shahidi had said ahead of the India game in New Delhi. "He has experience of Indian conditions. As a mentor, he has come in to give us talks about mental strength and how to deal with pressure and against these oppositions. So it's working well so far."

Jadeja's presence, inadvertently, also shone a light on the continued absence of Indian coaches at the men's quadrennial event. In fact, there has only been three Indian chief coaches (Sandeep Patil; Kenya, Ravi Shastri and Rahul Dravid; India) who have managed teams at the event since the 2003 World Cup in South Africa. Conventional wisdom says that Indians are good thinkers of the game. Ergo, they should be at the front of the queue for coaching jobs. The reality, though, is very different. Here are a few numbers that drives this point home. Since that quadrennial event in 2003, there has been 14 Australian coaches including Greg Chappell with India in 2007. For England, this number stands at nine, including Duncan Fletcher with India in 2015. For both South Africa and West Indies, it's seven each.

Why is this the case? Monty Desai, the current head coach of the Nepal men's team, got intimate with the subject. "I can certainly posit a theory, but nobody can say with certainty why that might be," he told this daily from Nepal. "Like with any niche position of responsibility, there are multiple factors that play into the hiring decisions. One factor that stands out in my mind is that representation matters. As the Indian diaspora grows around the world, we are starting to see many more Desis in high-ranking positions, be it large corporations, international foundations, and even in political positions in countries outside of India. From the highest-ranking members in executive roles who are responsible for making these hiring choices to the outside world's perception of what it means to be Indian, or in this case, an Indian coach on the world stage, the systems all exist with limitations and certain biases. I believe it is partly our own responsibility as proud Indians to challenge those perceptions and assert ourselves as talented, professional, noteworthy individuals. But that is only an assertion one can make when he or she is true to their path, faithful to their calling, and largely beyond reproach."

Rahul Dravid is the only head coach from India in the World Cup

NATIONALITIES OF SELECT COACHES WHO HAVE MANAGED TEAMS AT THE MEN'S WORLD CUP SINCE 2003
Australia	15
England	9
West Indies	8
South Africa	8
New Zealand	5
India	3

The biases that Desai, who was batting coach of the Afghanistan side when they qualified for the 2019 World Cup in England, was touched upon by another Indian coach who has gone abroad to coach a men's international side. "For all of them (other boards), it's like buying a car they don't know much about," the coach said. "There's not much data about how they will do because there is hardly any frame of reference so there may be some skepticism on their part. BCCI may be the richest board and cricket may be the most recognised brand in the subcontinent but not many have gone outside. But it's opening up right now."

The frame of reference is key because apart from the likes of Desai, there's not many at the top end who have managed a side at an elite event. Apart from the likes of Desai, Lalchand Rajput (Zimbabwe and Afghanistan), J Arun Kumar (USA) and Niraj Odedra (Bermuda), there's not many who have embraced the challenge recently. Desai, though, opined that many coaches may opt to stay in the country. "The boards you mention have their own limitations and biases," he said. "We all do. It is also possible that there are talented coaches who choose to stay in India for extremely valid and very personal reasons. Family, culture, lifestyle, and even economic status all come to mind when I consider why a coach might not want to leave. I personally struggle often with the dichotomy of being in this dream job, an opportunity that so few get and honouring what that means while regretting the time and experiences I miss out on with my family."

One reason why the Indian coach, who wants to remain unnamed, went abroad to coach an international side was because of his ambition to be at a World Cup with India. "I had spoken to a few people in India and I realised that I didn't have the international experience to apply for coaching roles with the national side and I was happy to explore, go down that route."

While there are a few like Desai who are happy to do so thanks to a very good support system, multiple coaches mentioned there was no reason to go out because of the opportunities available within India. "Lot of opportunities in Indian cricket so there's no reason for coaches to go out," was how Hrishikesh Kanitkar, former Tamil Nadu coach, put it. Full story: newindianexpress.com

South Africa held their nerves in the end to secure a one-wicket win against Pakistan in Chennai | ASHWIN PRASATH

DID YOU KNOW?

WORLD CUP TRIVIA

In the contest between Sri Lanka & Pakistan in Hyderabad, four centuries were hit. This is the first time in a World Cup match.

So near, yet so far for Pakistan

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

A PROFESSIONAL display by South Africa ensured them a creditable one-wicket win over Pakistan in the World Cup match here at the MA Chidambaram Stadium on Friday. Needing four runs to win, Keshav Maharaj flicked Nawaz to the backward square leg fence for a boundary sparking celebrations in the South Africa dug out. Since this was the last match of the marquee event at the venue, the stadium was almost full. Chennai fans true to their nature supported both the teams till the very end.

The good thing about South Africa is that their top-order batters managed to click in turns. If Quinton de Kock scored a big hundred against Bangladesh the other day, it was the turn of Aiden Markram (91) to light the Chepauk sky with his fireworks on Friday. This made the Proteas register their fifth win in the tournament. Coming in at 121 for 3, Markram played sensibly and with responsibility. He paced his innings well and ensured his side won the game. When wickets fell at the other end, he did not lose focus and ensured that he finished the job. After he got out, South Africa survived some tense moments to emerge victorious.

In contrast, Babar's crestfallen long walk back to the pavilion indicated to one and all that Pakistan's campaign in the tournament was all but over. His face also showed the pain as he was aware of the backlash that his dismissal was going to bring about. Babar like most of his teammates paid the price for poor shot selection. Upon reaching his half-century, Babar who was playing 'straight' for most part of his stay, went for a sweep, muffed it and the faint edge was lapped up by De Kock with Shamsi bagging the prize wicket after a review.

Chasing 271 for a win, South Africa had a disastrous start. They lost the wickets of in-form De Kock and their skipper Temba Bavuma in the power play. Both fell to the short-ball trap. While De Kock was caught in the deep by Wasim Jr off Shaheen Afridi, Temba Bavuma was held by Saud Shakeel at midwicket off Wasim Jr. From then on Pakistan's joy was short-lived for a while as Rassie van der Dussen and Aiden Markram steadied the rocking boat. They raised 54 runs for the third wicket before Van der Dussen was trapped by Usama Mir.

Brief scores: Pakistan 270 in 46.4 ovs (Babar 50, Saud 52; Shamsi 4/60, Jansen 3/43) lost to South Africa 271/9 in 47.2 ovs (Markram 91; Shaheen 3/45, Wasim 2/50).

'Spring' in their gait, 'Boks' behind them: Proteas march on

KALYANI MANGALE @ Chennai

Sporting legacies are built over the years. They are not like records that are meant to be broken. They are meant to be cherished by fans, respected even by the opponents, and most importantly, inspire generations. "Springboks" are one such sporting legacy. Named after an antelope native to south and southwest Africa, Springboks are the national Rugby team of South Africa, a step away from cementing their legacy even more.

In the ongoing Rugby World Cup, South Africa, the defending champions, started with a dominating win against Scotland followed by a landslide victory against Romania. The spirits were high before it all came crashing against Ireland in Paris. Even in loss, captain Siya Kolisi maintained his composure. "We would have loved to win but it was a great game, an intense game," Kolisi said on the pitch at the Stade de France following South Africa's loss. "Congrats to them. They played really well." You cannot build a legacy without respecting your opponent. Everything might be fair on the field but off of it, one has to respect the opponents. A reality check provided by Ireland came at the right time for the team as they bounced back against Tonga. Boks faced hosts France in the quarter-final and runners-up in the previous edition, England, in the semi-final. Both matches went to the final minute and they managed to win those two matches by the skin of their teeth. Only one point separates the winners and defeated sides. To say those two matches were close will do an injustice to the skills, patience and calmness displayed by the team.

At MA Chidambaram stadium in Chennai, it felt like Proteas took the leaf out of Boks' playbook to write their history against Pakistan. To be clear, South Africa has been a phenomenal side in the World Cup, but only when they have been asked to bat first. While batting first on four occasions, they have scored 350+ runs. And if you saw the late-order collapse for the Proteas, one could believe that this side becomes weaker while trying to overhaul targets. Their record while chasing, even though it happened only once, was not that good. Such was the situation that it was a talking point before the match because the only chance Pakistan have against this side is to make them chase. From five for 206 to nine for 260, South Africa practically let Pakistan gain control of the final match at the Chepauk. But somehow, they survived. They stood by each other like brothers in arm.

This kind of matches either break the team or make them stronger than ever before. The World Cup that has not seen many close encounters, needed this. The 29,980 strong 'knowledgeable Chennai crowd' deserved it and they delivered.

Springboks have given a new meaning to what it means to be South African. In wins and losses. In any sport. They are living the ancient African word — Ubuntu, which means 'I am what I am because of who we all are'. In the year when their women's cricket team broke the mold to feature in their first-ever T20 World Cup final, the women's football team made it to the knockouts in the FIFA World Cup and Boks are one step away from being the only team to lift the Webb Ellis Cup for the fourth time, can the cricket team dream? Can the spirit of 'Ubuntu' create another legacy? We shall find out soon.

Siyo Kolisi will lead South Africa in the Rugby World Cup final on Saturday

CAN NZ GET BACK TO WINNING WAYS?

After the loss against India, Black Caps take on Australia in Dharamsala in a day match on Saturday. A look...

HEAD RETURNS

Travis Head, who was on the sidelines due to an injury, is set to make a comeback into the playing XI. He is expected to bat at No. 3 with Steve Smith moving down a spot and Marnus Labuschagne, who has had a rough tournament so far, will have to sit out.

MUDDLE IN MIDDLE

Barring Daryl Mitchell, other batters in New Zealand middle-order haven't fired so far and that cost them in the clash against India. It is something Tom Latham & Co. want to address before Kane Williamson comes back into the XI.

BANGLADESH FACE DUTCH CHALLENGE

Having lost four out of five matches, both teams need to arrest the slide when they face each other. A look...

EYES ON EDWARDS

Scott Edwards and his wards looked clueless when Glenn Maxwell went berserk against them in New Delhi. On the night several records were broken, Edwards' captaincy came on the radar — something that he was applauded for after the win against South Africa. Can he step up in Kolkata?

WILL SHAKIB'S SESSIONS HELP?

Shakib Al Hasan flew back home to have a training session with his personal mentor Nazmul Abedeen Faheem. He has rejoined the team again, but will it help the skipper and his team to turn the fortunes around on Saturday?

Arjun, Tilottama secure Olympic quotas

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

IT was a day that belonged to rifle shooters from India. In a high-pressure environment, the Indians were a picture of composure, determination as they added two Olympic quotas to India's tally in the ongoing Asian Shooting Championships in Changwon, South Korea. Arjun Babuta and Tilottama Sen captured a silver medal each to secure the all-important quotas in the 10m air rifle events. In total, India have won a total of 10 Olympic quotas so far.

For Arjun, who had to battle numbness in lower body in 2019, this is something surreal.

Arjun

Tilottama

After bossing the qualification round with a score of 633.4 in the men's 10m air rifle event, the 24-year-old from Chandigarh was as impressive in the final and finished just behind Chinese prodigy Lihao Sheng, an 18-year-old who's an Olympic silver medallist. Even when he was behind initially, Arjun never seemed fazed and found some high 10s mid-way through the final. He eventually finished with a tally of 251.2. His immediate take on this outcome underlines what this meant to him. "I don't remember the last time I was this happy," Arjun said.

For someone who has come through the junior programme, Arjun has always had a high ceiling. However, he has had his share of hurdles. He had an injury scare a few years ago and he's had to be patient over the years. Coach Deepali Deshpande, who has known Arjun since his junior days, is not surprised by Friday's output.

"He did what was expected of him. It took him some time but he has been shooting consistently well in training. He is highly talented. We throw the term talented in a loose manner quite often. He has that eye for perfection. Even when he was very young, he had that knack of catching that perfect shot," Deepali noted.

Standing upright while training for long hours and competitions can take a massive toll on a shooter's body. It was in 2019 when Arjun had issues with his back. Moreover, he is also allergic to certain foods and that was affecting his health.

MYSTIC AND THE DIVINE

A musical on the life and times of Amir Khusrau, Jo Dooba So Paar, is coming to Bengaluru for the first time this weekend

A still from the musical Jo Dooba So Paar

MONIKA MONALISA

HAVING travelled to various cities, Jo Dooba So Paar, a musical on the life and times of Amir Khusrau and his relationship with his guru Nizamuddin Auliya, will be coming to Bengaluru for the first time this weekend. The show is among the shortlisted plays for the Ranga Shankara Theatre Festival.

Co-directed and co-written by Ajitesh Gupta and Mohit Agarwal, the show is the result of their passion for Sufi music. "Mohit and I both are musicians. Back in 2018, we used to just jam together. Our careers weren't going anywhere, so we started jamming together on qawwalis since we both loved Sufi music," recalls Gupta, adding that it was a particular incident in 2018 that pushed both of them to write the play.

During one of the open mics five years ago when both of them were performing, Gupta, without cross-checking, mentioned that the qawwali is a form of folk music. A gentleman from the audience went up to them, pointing out, "Qawwali is not folk music. It is something else. You guys better know what you're talking about."This left both stunned, leading them to research on the qawwali of different regions and ultimately leading them to the works of Amir Khusrau. "Through this play, I wanted to draw parallels from Tulsi Das, Kabir Das, Surdas, Mirabai, the Muslim saints, and the Bible," says Gupta.

Primarily most of the verses are in Urdu, and Gupta was aware it could be difficult for many to understand the language. However, he is quite confident that the play is written in such a way that it can be understood by people who understand Hindi. "Bengaluru might not be a city that understands Urdu as a language. Even when I started writing, I did not know Urdu well, I only knew Hindi. So I had to learn the language from scratch and mostly used Hindi words," explains Gupta, who has been part of various OTT series.

Gupta is particularly excited this time because this is the first play he has directed that is coming to the city. He shares that one of the reasons they are part of the festival is because of veteran actor couple Naseeruddin Shah and Ratna Pathak Shah. "Naseeruddin Shah and Ratna Pathak Shah have been great supporters. They have watched our play 9-10 times. They happened to mention us to Arundhati Nag and probably that's how we are here," says Gupta.

(The play is being staged on October 28 and 29, at 7.30 pm, tickets are priced at ₹300. More details on bookmyshow.com)

Jayanthi Kumaresh will be performing in the city on Oct 29, as part of a series of concerts celebrating instrumental maestros of India

String of emotions

Jayanthi Kumaresh

POOJA DAS

VEENA, the instrument of Goddess Saraswati, is meticulously hand-carved out of the wood of a jackfruit tree, which makes every veena unique. "Each veena has a story to tell," says veena maestro Jayanthi Kumaresh, who will be performing in the city at a curated concert at the Bangalore International Centre on October 29 (tickets ₹499 onwards). She will also weave the history and mystical significance of the instrument into her musical performance to create a more layered storytelling experience for 0the audience.

The concert, curated by Devina Dutt, co-founder of First Edition Arts, a performing arts production company based in Mumbai and Bengaluru, is the first of a series of concerts called Quest. The series will feature the instrumental maestros of India, who will not only perform but also tell the audiences about the history and evolution of the instruments, overlaid with the artiste's own personal history of the instrument.

"They are starting the series with the national instrument of India, the Saraswati veena. I have been playing the veena for half a century. They want me to not just perform a concert but also share the history of the instrument and the different styles of playing the veena based on the four different states – Mysore Bani, Thanjavur Bani, Andhra Bani, and Trivandrum Bani," says Kumaresh, who started learning the instrument at the age of three, not surprisingly, since she hails from a lineage of musical artistes spanning across six generations.

Dutt, who has been in this space for around 10 years, says that the challenging part is to ensure that the diversity and plurality of classical music is not lost. "Often, a lot of market forces tend to convert Indian classical music into big concerts, which is worrying. We have to create the ecosystem and the presentation of the music in keeping with its character. It has to be a slow nurturing process to create an audience for this music." The show will not only have the maestro performing her own compositions and the compositions of the trinity of Carnatic music –Tyagaraja, Muthuswami Dikshitar, and Syama Sastri – but will also showcase a 100-year-old veena from Kumaresh's own collection. "The audience will be able to see this heirloom veena lit up on stage. The conversation will also go into the making of these instruments, how it has evolved which will make more knowledgeable and sensitive audiences," says Dutt.

Kumaresh will be joined on the stage by percussionists Jayachandra Rao on the mridangam and Trichy Krishnaswamy on the ghatam.

Unmasking Corruption: REVA Launches Prof. R. Vaidyanathan's Revealing Book

REVA University hosted the launch of Prof. R. Vaidyanathan's book 'Black Money and Tax Havens'. The event held at Chanakya Auditorium was attended by personalities from various quarters, including writers, faculty, staff and students. The formal launch of the book was jointly carried out by the author Prof. R. Vaidyanathan; Dr. M. Dhanamjaya, Vice Chancellor, REVA University; and Dr. A. Shubha, Dean, REVA Business School.

Professor Vaidyanathan addressed the gathering and explained how he came up with the book's concept when talking about India while he was working in the United States. "When my colleague questioned the source of Indians' unity, I gave the immediate response: corruption." According to Prof. Vaidyanathan, this gave rise to a broad idea, and he investigated this topic in great detail, culminating in the book.

Prof. Vaidyanathan discussed the Double Tax Avoidance Agreement (DTAA) inked by the two nations, the Mauritius Treaty, which exempts non-residents from paying double taxes. Prof. Vaidyanathan claims that Mauritius is a tax haven island where most foreign investments go through in order to benefit from participatory notes and a capital gains tax exemption. He also explained the connection between corruption and black money. "Although all corruption results in black money, not all black money causes corruption. Black money is defined as untaxed funds that do not fall under the purview of taxation; all other untaxed funds are not considered black money," he said.

The book launch was followed by a discussion about the book moderated by Dr A. Shubha. The discussion began with a brief about black money, corruption and how policies can be implemented to curb the same. "I think the problem was caused by a lack of transparency in financial transactions, lax regulations, and the ease with which money can be transferred between nations and borders," said Prof. Vaidyanathan.

The amount of black money thought to exist in India was another topic of discussion.

THE VANQUISHERS

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

IF one has even an iota of Bong blood coursing through their veins then this time of the year will make you feel and do things that you would never imagine yourself doing! Anyone who saw my sindhur-laden forehead, red-stained feet and my saree worn Bangla style could never have put my sophisticated and ethnic avatar together! Instinctively, I started to use Bengali terms (much to the amusement of my non-Bong family) and I dived headfirst into the 'Duggo-duggo' spirit of things. I was amazed to see that we 'Bongs' are everywhere! And with us travels our culinary talent and Durga Puja.

The Durga Pujo in Kolkata used to be 'para' or a neighborhood activity, which was the epicentre of exchanging news to fixing alliances. Of course it was also the time of the year for older aunts to display their culinary skills. The food dished out (gratis) for six days at the pandals was awesome. Now the pandals teem with people from all walks of life who come to immerse themselves in the grandeur of 'woman-shakti' as the 'mother' vanquishes the demon and good triumphs over evil. In times like this we need to believe...we need to know that 'Ma' returns every year to annihilate the iniquitous, while the women dance, and play 'sindhoor khela' (vermillion is smeared on each other and thrown in the air with abandon) to signify that 'awl is well' once again.

I was slated to fly to Mumbai to see my munchkin, as she is growing up so rapidly and also because she's the most magical 'lil-un' to have entered my life. Her mere presence has put my priorities into perspective and she certainly tops it! I love playing 'glamma' and the smart-cookie knows that nothing is off limits for her, including my expensive makeup and designer bags. My daughter frowns at my indulgence but the way I see it...why do I have to do the disciplining? She has her parents to do that!

Just before my impending departure to the 'ultimate-city', I chose to attend the Bengali festival at the Grand Mercure because my good friend Sachin Maheshwari had blocked my dates well in advance. He didn't need much persuasion because I was thrilled that the very popular food bloggers/writers/photographers Madhushree and Anindya Basu were the ones who had master-minded this festival. We were a small table of discerning epicureans (not the usual bunch but food enthusiasts from in and around the vicinity and hotel guests) who were thrilled at the homeliness of the meal (Pikturenama's speciality). I had a 'Tam-Bhram' couple on my table who relished the food thoroughly! There couldn't be a better example of conjoining India through her varied cuisines!

I love living on the edge. If driving all the way to JW Marriott Golfshire for a garden-party luncheon just a few hours before my flight, with no packing done, (I was going to be away a solid 15 days), my home to be left at the mercy of 'my boys' and hordes of incomplete paperwork, is not cutting it fine, I don't know what is!

I am so glad I went. The ambiance was fantastic with bushels of flowers adorning our table, the company was scintillating and the food divine.

Chef Rawoot and his team sourced the super-fresh produce from their gardens and nearby farms. With a choice of lobster, duck, finest meat and freshest veggies to choose from, he made being 'sustainable' look so super-sophisticated.

A head full of fears has no space to dream...

Bengaluru's drink culture is a tapestry of tradition and innovation, where every sip is an exploration and every glass a celebration

ASLAM GAFOOR
(The writer is a Bengaluru-based hospitality professional, food lover, and travel enthusiast)

BENGALURU'S bar scene is a kaleidoscope of tastes and trends. Here, savouring a drink isn't just about the beverage; it's a vibrant social affair. The city's cosmopolitan vibe fuels a thirst for experimentation, with craft cocktails, artisanal beers, and local spirits taking centere stage. Brewpubs and microbreweries have captured hearts with their small-batch brews, offering everything from hoppy IPAs to rich stouts and refreshing ales.

We delve into a groundbreaking survey report titled 'What India Is Drinking 2023' by 30BestBarsIndia. This first-of-its-kind report peeks into the diverse world of drink choices across major Indian cities, including the buzzing streets of Bengaluru. It ranks the top ten brands across nearly two dozen alcohol and non-alcohol categories, spanning vodka, single malt, gin, wine, beer, rum, mixers, and more.

In Bengaluru, Greater Than takes the gin throne, while Bombay Sapphire reigns in other metros. Kingfisher clinches the Indian beer category, and Corona tops the international beer charts. Sula and Jacob's Creek shine in still wines, while Moet & Chandon pops the cork for sparkling wine. Bengaluru also raises a toast to Jägermeister liqueur, Perrier for water, and Schweppes in mixers. Glenfiddich leads in international single malts, and Johnnie Walker dominates blended scotch and malt.

Bengaluru is embracing homegrown spirits with open arms. Indian single malts like Paul John and Amrut are garnering international acclaim. The 'Made in India' tag is no longer a deterrent but a source of pride among the city's consumers.

Bengaluru's bars are more than just pouring points; they are portals to artful experiences. Mixology reigns supreme, with bartenders pushing boundaries to craft unforgettable drink moments. The report delves beyond the list of preferred brands, offering an exploration of the top cocktails for popular spirits. Classic cocktails are experiencing a revival with a local twist. Negronis, old fashioned, and martinis have taken a contemporary spin, infused with regional ingredients and flavors.

Vikram Achanta, co-founder 30BestBarsIndia, affirms, "India's bar culture is evolving rapidly. The survey highlights a growing preference for new-age Indian alcohol brands, capturing the interest of both alcobev companies and regular bar-goers."

Bad Manners all set for a grand release in around 400 theatres across Karnataka

The action thriller directed by Suri, and starring Abishek Ambareesh has made a good prerelease business

CE FEATURES

AFTER some uncertainty surrounding the release date, the makers of Bad Manners have confirmed that the film will hit theatres on November 24. The official announcement was made by the team on Thursday. Directed by well-known filmmaker Suri, who has previously delivered hits like Duniya, Jackie, Anna Bond, and Tagaru, the film stars Abhishek Ambareesh in the lead along with Rachita Ram and Priyanka Kumar.

With Jayanna handling distribution, there is significant anticipation for this collaboration, and the makers are planning a grand release in over 400 theatres across Karnataka.

Interestingly, Bad Manners has already secured good pre-release deals. The audio rights were acquired by the Anand Audio label, and the makers have sold the Hindi dubbing rights for a substantial sum. Additionally, it's been reported that a reputed channel has obtained the satellite rights of the film, bringing the total pre-release earnings to over 13 crore.

Bad Manners is produced under the Studio 18 banner by K M Sudhir. The film's songs, composed by Charan Raj, have garnered decent attention from viewers. Director Suri is confident that Bad Manners will establish Abishek as a commercially successful hero.

A NOD THAT LEAVES SOME FOOD FOR THOUGHT

A SHARADHAA

TAGARU PALYA
Director: Umesh K Krupa
Cast: Nagabhushan, Amrutha Prem, Rangayana Raghu, Tara, Mahantesh, Vasuki Vaibhav and Huli Karthik

RATING 3/5

THE initial visuals of Tagaru Palya reveal a rural setup where villagers are gathering for an event. We see a shot of the ram (locally known as Tagaru) played by 7-Star Sultan, surrounded by people to seek approval from a local deity. This specific shot stood out among the bustling scenes and piqued my curiosity, leaving me eager to uncover the deeper message that first-time director Umesh K Krupa aims to convey in his debut film.

The fact that actor Dhananjay has ventured into film production, and Tagaru Palya marks one of his initial attempts to provide opportunities for emerging talents and aspiring directors with compelling stories, is commendable. Umesh K Krupa's creative vision, based on true events from his own family, aligns well with the film's title and theme. Set in the lap of nature adds to its visual appeal. Tagaru Palya offers an enjoyable blend of humour in the chaste Kannada language, with a touch of the Mandya dialect, enhancing its local charm. The question remains: will Tagaru, the 7-Star Sultan, give his nod to the wonders crafted by the film?

The film's opening sequence unfolds with the early sunrise, gradually guiding us through the lush green woods and the customs observed by a particular village community. Pandu (Rangayana Raghu) awakens the entire village to partake in a ritual, a vow he and his wife Shanti (Tara) have made for their daughter Jyothi's (Amrutha Prem) marriage. They rely heavily on Chikka (Nagabhushan), a member of their family, for the smooth execution of the ritual. However, a secret phone call overheard by Jyothi's mother keeps her anxious throughout. Pandu and his wife are entrusted with completing the ritual, and this is where Tagaru, the 7-Star Sultan, takes the spotlight. The film captures the unfolding of events from dawn to dusk and the family's journey to fulfil their commitment, portraying the dedication of parents who go to great lengths to ensure their daughter's happiness. Alongside the humour that arises from various situations, the film delves into a love story and deeper emotions. It also addresses a father's concerns, a priest's teachings, the importance of family unity, and the reasons behind ram's stubbornness. All of these elements are intricately woven into the narrative.

While some may consider such rituals as myths, they continue to be practised in villages today, holding a deeper significance among them. The director has remained true to the recreation of traditions. Despite the story being confined to a single location, the film is enriched by its characters and the abundant atmosphere, with the backdrop of a waterfall adding visual appeal. The first-time director excels in the art of telling a simple yet relatable story.

The film also addresses the age-old notion that grass may seem greener on the other side, but the reality may be different. This pertains to how the attractions of city life easily entice villagers but still hold a belief that their own village life is superior. The film also incorporates elements of romance, portraying the innocence of love between a young boy and girl and the sacrifices made for the sake of reputation, conveyed subtly. The core message conveyed in Tagaru Palya emphasises that heavenly happiness is found in living together, showcasing the simplicity of rural life and the beliefs of the villagers.

In his maiden attempt as a writer, screenwriter, dialogue writer, and director, Umesh K Krupa has crafted a fun-filled yet meaningful narrative. Although some scenes may appear repetitive, it is in the dialogues that he effectively conveys humour and emotions. Some lines delivered in the Mandya slang may require a bit more attention to grasp immediately. The film culminates in a notable climax, with the family eagerly waiting for ram's approval to fulfil their wish.

At times, the film seems to take on the guise of a suspenseful thriller, but it ultimately unfolds as a heartwarming family drama. However, the love between the two protagonists could have been expressed with more passion. The second half clarifies the romantic elements and culminates in a climax that also highlights the importance of getting the girl's approval for the wedding. Nagabhushan, portraying a village character encountered throughout, adds value to the cast with his impeccable comic timing. Amrutha Prem makes an impressive debut, starting her character on a light note but later taking control of the screen and delivering a standout performance. While Rangayana Raghu and Tara shine through, the additional actors, such as Biradar, Chitra Shenoy, Sharath Lohitashva, Chandrakala, Mahantesh and Huli Karthik contribute to the film's entertainment value.

While Vasuki Vaibhav ventures into acting, the music seamlessly complements the village-themed narrative. Dhananjay, who penned the lyrics, complements the songs effectively. Despite the entire movie being confined to a single location, cinematographer S.K. Rao skillfully offers fresh visuals within the frame, maintaining visual appeal.

The film's pacing may pose a challenge at times, but the heart of the film lies in its humour, which adds to its charm. Despite some repetitive scenes, especially in the first half, the aspect where the sacrificial ram stubbornly refuses to cooperate, though seemingly necessary, keeps the audience engaged. In the end, the film successfully explores the enduring importance of human connections and concludes on a high note, delving into the emotional aspects of relationships. For a film that follows a linear path, Tagaru Palya introduces fresh and distinctive perspectives, ensuring an enjoyable and entertaining family viewing experience.
